All Means ALL:

An Introduction to Circles, Maps and Paths

Featuring Marsha Forest and Jack Pearpoint

Produced by the Video Journal of Education (33 minutes) $100.00

We are thrilled that this video is now available. This video puts the contents of the books All My Life's A Circle, Action for Inclusion, The Inclusion Papers and the PATH Workbook into living colour.

The video shows a beginning Circle of Friends in a Canadian high school setting, goes through the MAPS mandala, and has a moving PATH done in New Mexico with a parent and her school team. This is a perfect introduction to the tools and can be followed up with the MAPS Train- ing Video and the PATH Training Videos. (Also available in DVD format)

The video is fast paced and creatively produced using excellent music and graphics. It travels across Canada and the U.S. to show that inclusion is not an ideal but a reality in many school systems across North America.

Audience: Educators, advocates, people working in human service, human rights, diversity, community...

Video

Dr. Michael Fullan, Dean of the Faculty of Education, University of Toronto writes:

"I just viewed the Inclusion tape which is great. Congratulations to you and the Lintons. This tape is an important resource for all those struggling with the concept and the realities of inclusion. It presents a clear and inspiring vision and rationale about the true meaning of inclusion, which dispels a lot of the myths and misunderstandings. At the same time it provides us with powerful tools and proven guidelines for action which have been used successfully by many educators."

A Little Book About Person Centered Planning Ways to Think about Person Centered Planning, its Limitations, the Conditions for its Success and its Contributions to Organizational Renewal.

Editors: John O'Brien and Connie Lyle O'Brien

156 pages, Softbound from Inclusion Press, ISBN 1-895418-40-2
$20.00

This is THE book to read for anyone doing Person Centered Planning. It is a serious and challenging collection. Each author is a leader in the field, and challenges readers to think deeply about the vital issues involved in the work of real Person Centered Planning. Contributing authors include: John O'Brien, Connie Lyle O'Brien, Marsha Forest, Jack Pearpoint, Herb Lovett, Beth Mount, Michael Smull, Judith Snow and Jeff Strully.

The editors hoped to produce a book that will help those who facilitate Person Centered Plans to develop their own ideas about how best to use their talents. Excellent bibliography of resources included.

Chapters include: The Politics of Person Centered Planning, The Ethics of Maps and Path, A Guide to Personal Futures Planning, and much more.

Audience: Anyone involved/working with Person Centered Planning tools.

A Set of Three Tapes

Produced by Comforty Mediaconcepts

$175.00

Video

This exciting and useful three part staff development series was filmed at a workshop done by Marsha Forest, Jack Pearpoint and Judith Snow in Chicago in 1992 and it is as relevant today as it was then. It is being used by school systems and human service organizations worldwide to introduce staff and families to the concepts pioneered by Marsha, Jack and Judith. As Marsha, Jack and Judith can't always be everywhere they are invited, this three tape set brings the three of them and an exciting event right to your own door step. Tape 1 (one hour) is an Introduction to Inclusion - using Jack's exciting graphics this is a dynamic lecture by the three speakers. Tape 2 (37 minutes) focuses on strategies for making inclusion happen—The Six Thinking Hats (Edward DeBono) is introduced as well as the Circle of Friends concept. Tape 3 illustrates an introductory look at a MAP and a PATH (24 minutes).

We get great feedback on this video as a way to do staff development and team building for inclusive community. It is an excellent way to get the ball rolling and can be followed up by the MAPS and PATH Training Videos (or DVDs). Books that compliment the video series are Action for Inclusion, The Inclusion Papers, All My Life's A Circle and The Path Workbook.

Audience: Staff development for school systems and human service organizations. All ages.

PATH: A Workbook for Planning Positive Possible Futures

Planning Alternative Tomorrows with Hope for Schools, Organizations, Businesses and Families

by Jack Pearpoint, John O'Brien and Marsha Forest

56 pages, softbound from Inclusion Press, ISBN 1-895418-10-0 $20.00

This is the 'hot' item from our Press. If you say you are interested in, and/or using PATH, this is a must. It goes along with the PATH Training Video and the PATH in Action Video. Our workbook is being used by groups all around the world and is sold individually or in bulk so that each member of the PATH planning event can have a copy. It is 60 pages and includes a color graphic of a real PATH. The book outlines the PATH process in depth and is according to those doing PATH 'indispensable'. One reader said "no matter how many PATHS I do I always take it with me." PATH is a creative planning tool which starts in the future and works backward to an outcome of first steps that are possible and positive. It is excellent as a team building tool and has been used to mediate conflicts. It is loved by people who actually want to change the usual ways in which they currently work. Any groups teaching PATH as a tool will hopefully have a copy for each person.

Audience: Anyone doing PATH. Relevant for all ages and all populations. Now in use by architects, small business firms, medical professionals, but primarily for families, educators and human service providers - who are planning positive futures for people using Person Centered Planning techniques.

PATH in ACTION

Working with Groups

Producers: Inclusion Press & Yellowknife Educ. Dist.1 (65 min.) $100.00

We recommend Path in Action: Working With Groups as the essential Path Training Video. It is one hour, and demonstrates 'setting the tone', 'setting boundaries', and the 8 Path Steps which conclude with an immediately 'do-able' first action step.

The tape is an edit of two Paths, one done with the high school students in Yellowknife, NWT, and the second with the administrators in the same school district - planning the future of a school system. It took courage for Superintendent of Education, Dr. Ken Woodley, to invite a camera crew to record three days of intensive future planning. This is an honest and intense edit of those three days. The video composite cuts back and forth between the two PATH'S and shows real examples of tension, conflict, negotiation, energy and vision. IF you are dealing with change - this video is a must watch. A transcript of the PATH accompanies the video.

Audience: Essential for anyone and everyone doing, using or training with Path. Human service, educators, families, facilitators, advocates, administrators, general audience; anyone involved in "Change".

Video

The PATH Training Video: Joe's PATH

Video Produced by Jeff Dobbin, Parashoot Productions (35 minutes) $75.00

PATH was developed by Jack Pearpoint, John O'Brien and Marsha Forest

This video takes the viewer through the steps of PATH. Path was designed to deal with complex issues for individuals, families, organizations. We have used PATH with medical practitioners, architects, schools, individuals and families. It is a sharp and powerful tool that gets people to do-able first steps based on taking them into the North Star future many generations ahead, then creating a possible and positive future one or two years ahead and then coming back to now. The PATH then asks who do we need to enroll if we are really going to get anywhere, and what do we need to actually do to stay strong enough for the journey. Then we go into the future again and plan six months, three months, one month and finally our first steps to get us on the PATH. The video describes each step and uses a young man with cerebral palsy as the focus person as he plans his transition from an institutional setting to a life fully in the community. Although the video uses Joe as an example of the process it can be easily transferred to any situation.

Audience: A must see for anyone using PATH, or doing training with PATH. Use with the Path Workbook..

Essential for PATH Facilitators

If you are using PATH, you need the TWO Training Videos and the Workbook to get started and learn the basics.

The PATH Action Pack is a bargain with all the key PATH materials in one kit. If you say you are doing PATH, or training in PATH, this is essential viewing and reading.

The PATH Demonstration Video

Produced by the Center for Ministry with Disabled People and School of Education, University of Dayton.

Narrated by Marilyn Bishop (58:30 minutes)

$55.00

This is an excellent example of a PATH with a group of school administrators, human service providers and families who want to create an inclusive school system. The video was filmed during a workshop for professionals and families at the University of Dayton in Dayton, Ohio. Marsha Forest and Jack Pearpoint go through each step of the process in detail and there is also an excellent commentary by Marilyn Bishop throughout the video. This will be best utilized after the first two training videos.

Audience: School and human service systems who want to use PATH for building inclusive school and other community systems, families, advocacy groups.

MAPS: Making Action Plans

ReDiscovering MAPS: Charting Your Journey Vision, Focus, Action.

Created by Inclusion Press - Jack Pearpoint, Marsha Forest & John O'Brien with David Hasbury;
Produced by Jeff Dobbin, Parashoot Productions; $ 100.00

After 15 years of MAPS experiences, Marsha Forest, John O'Brien and Jack Pearpoint return to 'rediscover' the power and beauty of the MAPS process. This tape was made in the last six months of Marsha's life. It is a tribute to Marsha - and part of our commitment that her work will continue.

In this video, segments of two MAPS processes are used to provide support and instruction to people concerned with excellence and integrity in person centered planning processes. One MAP was facilitated by Marsha and Jack (Lyndz's MAP); a second was facilitated by David Hasbury and Megan Schopf (Jasmine's MAP). John O'Brien provides thoughtful commentary to this powerful update of the MAPS process - by its founders.

A book is in preparation to complement the video.

A great deal has been learned about MAPS as a process since it was created in the mid 80's. This video demonstrates and comments on some of the lessons so all of us can be better at creating a safe 'space' for people and families to tell their stories - and move into action.

If you have been doing - or are about to do a MAP, this video is 'required viewing' and the book should be assigned reading. We are taking people's lives in our hands. We need to honour their stories by being the best facilitators (listeners) we can be. This video will help us do that.

Audience: A must see for anyone and everyone doing, using or training in MAPS.

The New MAPS Training Video: Shafik's MAP Plus "Dreaming" with Judith Snow.

Created by Jack Pearpoint and Marsha Forest; Produced by Jeff Dobbin, Parashoot Productions;
Facilitated by John O'Brien (40 minutes) $ 75.00

Shafik Assante, a well known human rights activist from Philadelphia courageously opens his heart and his life in this unique video which is a high caliber training tape. The tape takes the viewer through each step of the MAPS process and discusses the steps in detail as designed by the authors. An eight minute segment by Judith Snow at the end of the video is a gem describing the heart of the process which is about "dreaming". MAPS is an eight step tool that collects information about a person, a family, an organization and then designs a plan of action based on the information gathered. The questions are: What is the person's story or history? What are the person's dreams? What are the person's nightmares. Who is this person? What is the person good at (their gifts and talents)? What do we need to do to get to the dream and avoid the nightmare? And finally, what is our plan of action?

Audience: A must see for anyone doing, using or training in MAPS.

Action for Inclusion: How to Improve Schools by Welcoming Children with Special Needs Into Regular Classrooms

by John O'Brien, Marsha Forest with Judith Snow, Jack Pearpoint and David Hasbury

54 pages, Softbound from Inclusion Press, ISBN 0-921031-07-6

$20.00

This 55 page book is definitely the best seller of Inclusion Press. It is now in its fourth printing. It is short and jargon-free and describes in detail the Circle of Friends exercise and the MAPS (Making Action Plans) process. We strongly recommend it with the video, With A Little Help From My Friends and the New MAPS Training Video. This book is being used by school systems all around the globe. It is perfect for conferences and courses as it is short and filled with actual tips on how to develop an action plan (MAP) for including any child at risk of exclusion. It is not limited to any one label but for all children at risk at any age. Although it talks mostly about elementary and middle school age children we feel it is transferable to high school students and adults. A perfect handout for large conferences and a text for courses.

"This is an extraordinary plain language guide to inclusion. Nominally it is about education, globally it is a guide to building inclusive communities of living. It's not a tool -- it's a way."

John McKnight, Northwestern University.

"People call me every day asking for assistance in including children with challenges into regular schools and classrooms. I can think of no better resource or information than this book. Finally, I can give people information that is clear, concise, and represents years of experience and thought."

The music alone is worth the price of this classic and still vibrant video featuring Father Pat Mackan working in schools in Alberta, Canada and building Circles of Friends and MAPS. The song "Kids Belong Together" has become an anthem of inclusion. The video is a celebration of friendship and shows the possibilities for change. Great and inspiring images of children and teachers working together in schools. The book Action for Inclusion and Inclusion Papers goes well with this tape.

Audience: Educators, families and anyone interested in Circles of Friends and MAPS. Elementary and middle school focus.

Miller's MAP

Produced by Tim Cairns, Marsha Forest and Jack Pearpoint (33 minutes)

$55.00

Video

This video is very popular with school systems and families. Although the sound quality is not as good as our other videos it doesn't seem to matter as the visual images of Miller and her family and friends is so powerful. Miller Cairns was in grade six when this video was made. She is a child who does not speak much but she and her friends get together to plan the curriculum together. The teacher, the principal, Miller's mom and dad and other friends join in to work together to create a MAP for Miller. Miller's mom Melinda and her dad Tim give eloquent testimony to the dreams and nightmares they have for Miller. It is a powerful video on the issue of Inclusion, Friendship and MAPS.

Audience: Families, school systems (elementary and middle school focus.)

The first 5000 copies sold more quickly than we ever imagined. Now we have expanded this popular book which captures the essence and spirit of three creative and exciting tools used by many schools and organizations who want to build innovative and quality education or human service systems that truly meet the needs of the people being served.

The book gives a glimpse of the 3 tools (MAPS, PATH and Circle of Friends) and outlines the key points. Stories and graphics illustrate the text and add depth to the tools described.

The new expanded edition has several important additions including the 14 page transcript of the MAPS Training Video and an important transcript of a talk by Judith Snow entitled "On Dreaming". Eleven additional articles by Marsha Forest and Jack Pearpoint also add depth to the book. The original work plus these new additions gives a clear picture of the tools in actual practice.

The video "All Means ALL" (p. 3) is a perfect compliment to this book. Also recommended are the MAPS Training Video and the PATH Action Pack (p. 2) for those serious about using and facilitating these tools.

Audience: Educators and families, human service and advocacy organizations, anyone interested in MAPS, PATH & Circles of Friends.

If we are to achieve a richer culture, rich in contrasting values, we must recognize the whole gamut of human potentialities, and so weave a less arbitrary social fabric, one in which each diverse gift will find a fitting place.

What's Really Worth Doing and How to Do It: A Book for People Who Love Someone Labeled Disabled (Possibly Yourself).

by Judith Snow

223 pages Softbound from Inclusion Press ISBN 1-895418-38-0

$20.00

This powerful combination, From Behind the Piano and What's Really Worth Doing, is being used around the world as a textbook in many human service programs. It is used by high school teachers, college professors and as a great human interest story. The Piano book (part 1) details the personal story of helping Judith Snow move out of an institution and into the community. A circle of support was born that not only helped Judith, but changed the lives of all involved. The message is powerful and simple: None of us can deal with a crisis alone. The book details the formation of the "Joshua Committee" - Judith's name for her Circle of Support. John O'Brien's 10 page afterward is a brilliant essay about the message of hope embedded in the book.

What's Really Worth Doing (Part 2 of this book) is essential reading for anyone involved in advocacy. It's great for courses and conferences. Judith says her book is about strategies to make it possible for people who are vulnerable to be more present and included in their communities. Her premise is that we must replace the thinking of disability with the thinking of "giftedness." If you want to know how to start to build support circles (i.e. circles of friends), this is the book for you.

And now you get BOTH in one attractive book.

You see things and say,

'Why not?'

This classic video keeps selling as if it were brand new. The freshness of the video is in the voices of students who talk from their hearts about inclusion and building circles of friends. The video is in three parts. Part I shows the actual exercise of building a Circle of Friends. Part II shows a small group of students and teachers discussing the ins and outs of inclusion and circle building and the third piece "May's MAP" is an excellent example of a MAP done with 12 year old students. The video focuses on the voices of the teachers and the students who tell us over and over again that inclusion must be done and that "it's really not that hard to do if you have 'A little help from your friends'." The book Action for Inclusion is a perfect compliment to the video. If you don't already have it get it now as it is still one of the most inspiring pieces of video around.

Circles of Friends

By Robert Perske Illustrated by Martha Perske

94 pages, softcover from Abingdon Press, ISBN 0-687-08390-7 $25.00

Book

In this warm, sensitive collection, Robert and Martha Perske offer true stories and issues to ponder, concerning Circles of Friends -- friendships between people with disabilities and neighbors and school mates. Martha's drawings and Bob's stories are a perfect antidote to hopelessness and cynicism. This is a book about possibility and hope. They show how these circles cut across age groups, generations, and races, and how the hearts and world views of everyone can be enriched. The emphasis here is on pure and simple friendship. A good beginning to learn the real and true meaning of building Circles of Friends.

Written in 1988, this book is still a fresh bouquet for the millennium.

It Matters: Lessons from My Son & Do You Hear What I Hear?

By Janice Fialka

40 pages, softcover, self published $15.00

A wonderful collection of poems by a socialworker, national speaker, and mother of two children - one with developmental and other wonderful abilities. Advice to Professionals who must conference cases and You can make a difference in our lives are both included. Both books give a glimpse into honest emotions of both parents and professionals. Great for classrooms, agencies or a quiet spot beside your bed.

2nd book: Janice Fialka and Karen Mikus

76 pages, Softbound, Proctor Publications

This little book cuts through the rhetoric and jargon of partnership literature. It colors outside the lines, creating a new dialogue between parents and professionals. A highly readable resource which enhances self-reflection, personnel preparation, and parent-professional training.

Jancie lives in Michigan and considers her son Micah (author in this Inclusion News) one of her greatest teachers.

The point of inclusion is the belief that each of us is important, unique, sacred, in fact. We can only relate to others and begin to include them in our lives and our society if we have this primary belief....

For this discovery, people often need help from somebody who "walks with them," an accompanier. One of the most important factors for inner liberation is how we are accompanied. We must ask ourselves, "Who is walking with me?" Jean Vanier

Dream Catchers and Dolphins Reaching Out in a Time of Crisis

by Marsha Forest and Jack Pearpoint Afterword: John O'Brien

$20.00

A remarkable healing journey - via e-mail. Travel with Marsha and Jack as they reach out to their circle during their crisis with cancer. A book for anyone in any crisis. The message: Reach out for support by any means!! Foreword: Dr. Paul G. Levy, M.D., FRCP (C)

When breast cancer, then ovarian cancer, then breast cancer again became present in Marsha Forest's body, along with it came fear, anxiety, sadness, anger and a sense of helplessness. Faced with it all, Marsha and Jack did what they have always done. They recognized the aspects they had less control over, i.e. the presence of cancer. And, they identified the parts they did have control over, namely, how they chose to live their lives and with whom they chose to share it. They chose to be present to their own experience: reflect on it, act on it, and share it with their network of friends. For those who were nearby, phone calls, visits, shared dinners and gab sessions on the back porch, all became vehicles for sharing these vital experiences. For those friends around the world who were separated by distance, letter writing in cyberspace via e-mail served as the intimate meeting place.

Dream Catchers and Dolphins is a collection of these cyberspace meetings that is filled with hope and inspiration. It provides us all with an opportunity for revitalization through remembering what is important in life. It points to the possibility of thriving through life's challenges by sharing our life and vulnerability openly with those we care about by any means available to us.

Audience: A book for anyone dealing with a life crisis. Perfect to give to a friend in crisis - cancer or any other life threatening issues.

A Decade of Success!

On July 18th, 1986, days before her 25th birthday, Catherine moved from her parents' house into her own home. It was an exciting, somewhat anxious time, the culmination of about two years of planning and hard work on the part of many people. Everyone had been eager to help Cath create a home for herself where she would have both the necessary paid, live-in support and the freely given friendship and help of others living in the two upstairs apartments. Could such a novel arrangement work?

In succeeding years there have been wonderful times at 822 Preston, and many equally wonderful people have been - and in some cases still are - an important part of Catherine's life, and she of theirs. It hasn't always been perfect - what household is? - but we can now say that it not only could work, it has worked, and we hope and believe it will continue to do so. This book celebrates Cath's 35th birthday and the 10th anniversary of her move. Meet her housemates, enjoy her life.

Bob Perske: We could call this book "Mothers Know Best." Nicola's instincts for her daughter guided and created a life for Catherine that not even Nicola imagined. If God had granted me the chance to choose my mother, I would have chosen Nicola Schaefer. Nicola is truly a great storyteller and this is truly a great story.

Audience: Anyone interested in building community and support networks around vulnerable people. Educators, human service providers, advocacy networks.

An Unbelievable Gift

Reflections on Inclusive Education

by Father Patrick Mackan

131 pages, Softbound from Inclusion Press, ISBN 1-895418-06-6

Book
$15.00

This book has become a living tribute to the memory of our friend and mentor Father Patrick Mackan who passed away in 1990. His book is a popular collection of short reflections about the ABC's of Inclusion - Acceptance, Belonging and Community. Each story is about creating an atmosphere where all are welcomed and where no one is ever again denied admission for fully participating. 131 pages of reflections.

Audience: Popular with school systems and human service organization. A great gift. A must for any spiritual school organizations. A perfect handout for an entire staff or conference. Relevant for all ages.

Don't Pass Me By

by Gary Bunch

100 pages, Softbound from Inclusion Press, ISBN 1-895418-06-2

$15.00

Every city in the world has a population of people who live on the streets. Many of us pass them by. Gary Bunch decided to collect the writings of teenagers affiliated with the Beat the Street Literacy Program. The book also describes the SCIL (Student Centered Individualized Learning) approach to teaching reading and writing based on the three R's of Respect, Reality and Relationships. A 33-page introduction to Beat the Street, followed by 60 pages of moving poetry by students who thought they couldn't read and/or write. This is 101 pages of inspiration for those working in challenging circumstances.

Audience: People working with high risk students in schools or community based programs. Anyone interested in reading and writing programs that are student centered. People working with young adults or adult populations.

T-Shirts with a Message The Nth Degree

One of our favorite small business people is Dan Wilkins who does the best and most meaningful t-shirts around. Dan is also an eloquent speaker about the rights of people with disabilities. He designed the T-shirt which features the word BE-LONG. His definition of belonging challenges all of us to look at issues of self-worth, values, equality, and welcoming.

be*long v. 1. to feel and be a part of ...i.e. of a community, a workplace, a neighborhood or school 2. to enjoy a sense of contribution, value, self-worth 3. to truly believe one is a natural and equal part of the whole 4. comfortable, safe, cared for, welcome.

The heart of community is belonging.

Inclusion: Recent Research

Gary Bunch and Angela Valeo

183 pages. Softbound from Inclusion Press ISBN 1-895418-30-5 $25.00

For all of you who are asking the difficult questions that need to be answered with data and good quality research this is the book for you! You also probably know ten people to whom you will want to give it. We recommend that every undergraduate and graduate student in any course on education have this. We want every parent and advocacy organization to use this book as a resource. We want every library to have this title on their shelves.

Dr. Bunch, a respected professor of education at York University in Toronto and his research associate Angela Valeo, herself a classroom teacher, write in a readable and enjoyable style. They use the most up-to-date research to deal with topics such as socialization, paraprofessionals, instructional strategies, challenging behaviour, effects of inclusion on the "other" students, teacher attitudes, academic achievement and more.

If you have anything to do with inclusive education either as a family member, teacher, researcher, or just plain interested citizen, this is a book to get immediately into your hands.

It uses plain language and is exciting reading. It is thought provoking, challenging and is based on real data in the real world of inclusive education worldwide. If you are doing research, or want to know what the research says, order this book today!

Audience: Anyone interested in inclusion or doing research on inclusive education. Teachers, graduate students, professors, university and college courses, advocacy organizations.

Kids, Disabilities and Regular Classrooms

by Gary Bunch

Softbound from Inclusion Press 111 pages ISBN 1-895418-22-4

This is a wonderful and informative annotated bibliography of selected children's literature on Disability. 111 pages of content and books you can get at any library in North America. No library or resource centre should be without this book. All books selected present children or adults with disabilities as members of the general community. Two types of books are represented: story oriented and instructionally oriented. The underlying thesis of this resource bibliography is that children belong together.

Audience: Teachers and parents of children of all ages who are serious about including all children. Suitable for use by elementary and high school aged students to increase their understanding of people with disabilities.

Thirty Years of Fully Inclusive Education by Jim Hansen
in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada

Produced by Hamilton-Wentworth Catholic School Board

Video: length 15 minutes $55.00

The Hamilton-Wentworth Catholic District School Board has just celebrated 30 Years of Fully Inclusive Education for All. Their mission statement: "EACH BELONGS".

This fifteen minute video says it all. All children can be included - from elementary grades through to high school graduation - if we want and believe in a system where "EACH BELONGS". A stunning segment shows two high school students telling about their experiences. One is in a wheelchair. One is on his feet. Which one has benefited more will be your challenge in watching this warm, down to earth, authentic video put together by students and faculty. It is a gem. Show it to anyone who doubts that inclusive education is possible. Listen to parents, teachers, and administrators who, without a shadow of a doubt, know that "Each Belongs." While many systems are still debating whether to welcome all children to their schools, Hamilton, under the leadership of Jim Hansen, Phil DiFrancesco and Betty Browne, has been doing it - with no extra budgets - for thirty years. Their secret is extra love and caring for all.

Audience: Educators and Families. Also human service and advocacy organizations. Anyone interested in MAPS, PATH & Circles of Friends.

Each Belongs - the book by Jim Hansen is a remarkable collection and reflection on this 30 years of work. If you want to know how it happened, from the inside, read this. Dozens of letters from principals, teachers and families document the power of this remarkable feat. - welcoming all children.

Action for Inclusion: How to Improve Schools by Welcoming Children with Special Needs into Regular Classrooms

by John O'Brien, Marsha Forest with Judith Snow, Jack Pearpoint and David Hasbury
54 pages, Softbound from Inclusion Press, ISBN 0-921031-07-6 $20.00

This 55 page book is definitely the best seller of Inclusion Press. It is now in its fourth printing. It is short and jargon-free and describes in detail the Circle of Friends exercise and the MAPS (Making Action Plans) process. We strongly recommend it with the videos: ReDiscovering MAPS (newest), With A Little Help From My Friends and the New MAPS Training Video (Shafik's MAP). This book is being used by school systems all around the globe. It is perfect for conferences and courses as it is short and filled with actual tips on how to develop an action plan (MAP) for including any child at risk of exclusion. It is not limited to any one label but for all children at risk at any age. Although it talks mostly about elementary and middle school age children we feel it is transferable to high school students and adults. A perfect handout for large conferences and a text for courses.

Audience: Mostly school personnel and parents of children in school.

"This is an extraordinary plain language guide to inclusion. Nominally it is about education, globally it is a guide to building inclusive communities of living. It's not a tool -- it's a way."

John McKnight, Northwestern University.

"People call me every day asking for assistance in including children with challenges into regular schools and classrooms. I can think of no better resource or information than this book. Finally, I can give people information that is clear, concise, and represents years of experience and thought."

The Inclusion Papers Strategies to Make Inclusion Work

by Jack Pearpoint, Marsha Forest and Judith Snow
150 pages, Softbound from Inclusion Press, ISBN 1-895418-08-9 (3rd printing) $20.00

This is an excellent collection of many of the most popular articles written over the years by authors such as Marsha Forest, Jack Pearpoint, Judith Snow, Patrick Mackan. As well, there are poems by Bob Williams and Meyer Shevin. Several of Jack Pearpoint's graphics are at the end of the book.

Favorite articles include: Common Sense Tools: MAPS and Circles; MAPS: Action Planning; Inclusion vs Exclusion; Giftedness vs Disability; and Inclusion! the Bigger Picture.

"Excellent for my staff. These short but powerful articles have plain English. I can use them a few at a time to stimulate excellent discussion. Wonderful material on MAPS and Circle of Friends. Get a copy for every staff member - a gift they will treasure." School Principal, Ontario Audience: Educators, human service, advocacy, parent groups. Relevant for all ages.

Petroglyphs The Writing on the Wall

University of New Hampshire

Susan Shapiro-Barnard, Carol Tashie, Jill Martin, Joanne Malloy, Mary Schuh, Jim Piet, Stephen Lichtenstein, Jan Nisbet.
Photographs by Gary Samson
$20.00

This book is forty-four pages of photographs and uncompromising narrative. It has a bottom line: social justice must be extended to high school. Although inclusive education has taken a stronghold in many places, high school students with disabilities still face segregation more often than not. The format of the book is to have half a page dedicated to a section called, "We used to think..." and the next column, "We now know...". For example, we used to think it was a good idea for students with disabilities to spend a portion of their day out in the community separated from their peers. We now know community based instruction is not the same as community service.

Audience: A must for anyone involved in high school education and with teenagers.

Book

Petroglyphs We Used to Think. Now We Know

The Institute on Disability,
University of New Hampshire
(12 minutes) $55.00

Inclusion in high school. A wonderful new video from the UNH team - based on the photographs in the Petroglyphs book. Although inclusive education has taken a stronghold in schools on the continent, high school students with disabilities still face the real possibility of segregation. We used to think this was acceptable. We know now it is not. This video challenges existing beliefs and practices and advocates for change.

Petroglyphs is a collection of photographs taken over an eight-year period in high schools and colleges throughout New Hampshire. These photographs, coupled with thought-provoking narrative and distinctive music, reveal the many benefits of including students with disabilities in regular high school and college settings.

Video

Audience: Everyone engaged in or getting ready for inclusion in high schools and community colleges - students, teachers and families.

Treasures A Celebration of Inclusion

University of New Hampshire

Created and Edited by: Ann Donoghue Dillon, Carol Tashie, May Schuh, Cheryl Jorgenson, Susan Shapiro-Barnard, Beth Dixon, Jan Nisbet
Photographs by Gary Samson. Foreword by Marsha Forest. Afterward by Rick Betz
$20.00

The heart and soul of inclusion is captured in this beautiful book of text and photographs to celebrate inclusive education in New Hampshire. The title of the book comes from Rick Betz a Nashua High School student who told us with facilitated communication that "Friends are very important to me. They are the future treasures that, with proper guidance will grow." This little book of 48 glossy pages is a treasure. The photos and the quotes that go with them need to be in every school and every home to remind us that what is possible in New Hampshire can happen in every state and province anywhere. This is a great gift for teachers or families.

Audience: All ages. Of particular interest to families and school systems.

Celebrating the Ordinary The Emergence of Options in Community Living as a Thoughtful Organization

by John O'Brien, Connie Lyle O'Brien & Gail Jacob

245 pages, Softbound from Inclusion Press ISBN 1-895418-34-8

Inclusion Press would like to get this book into the hands of everyone involved in "Supported Living".

This book is a deep and compelling journey into the real issues of supported living. Before 'Supported Living' became a familiar term, Options, a small organization in Madison, WI was attempting to personalize services and assist people to live in their own homes. That was twenty years ago. How this happened, and the complex stumbling blocks, is the subject of this book. It is the story of the passion, dedication and dreams of a remarkable group of people - both the staff and the people they serve. For some, this is a book to read; for others, it is a thoughtful text worthy of in-depth study. 245 pages of brilliant analysis that will benefit anyone involved in supported living - ranging from directors to direct support staff.

Some of the issues explored include: · From packages to people · Beliefs define the pattern · Avoiding the growth trap · Acknowledging difficulty · Signs of trouble · Relationships as a resource · Making funding flexible · Chewing on intractable problems · Nine enduring understandings · Audience: Anyone involved in supported living - building community - supporting change.

Members of Each Other Building Community in Company With People With Developmental Disabilities

by John O'Brien and Connie Lyle O'Brien

140 pages, Softbound from Inclusion Press, ISBN 1-895418-24-0

Connie and John have written a beautiful 140 page book which is relevant for all of us who want to build friendships and community, not only for people with developmental disabilities but for ourselves. Members of Each Other exposes the dangers of power, of isolation, of helplessness and gives tried and true tools to help build the future. This collection particularly describes initiatives in three areas: linking people one-to-one (citizen advocacy); gathering people around helping a person define and pursue a desirable future (circle of support); and assisting people to pursue their interests as members of community associations (connecting people to community associations). We are getting orders, from one to fifty copies, for university courses, seminars and conferences.

Audience: Anyone interested in building community and support networks around vulnerable people, educators, human service providers, advocacy networks.

reflect. It is a book that celebrates the ability of neighborhoods to heal themselves from within. McKnight shows how competent communities have become colonized and invaded by professional services with often devastating results. McKnight's belief is that the basis for resolving many of today's social problems is the community capacity of the local citizens. Whether you agree or disagree it is an excellent and thought provoking book.

This is a perfect accompaniment to the McKnight video: Everyone Has a Gift.

Audience: Anyone interested in the world in which we live and particularly in social issues that face communities, schools, workplaces, and human service organizations.

Everyone Has A Gift Building Communities of Capacity Video

Produced by Jack Pearpoint and Marsha Forest with Jeff Dobbin of Parashoot Productions

(length 54:31)

$75.00

Everyone who sees this video loves it. It is truly John McKnight at his finest. The video is a gem. John McKnight is the Director of the Community Studies Program at the Center for Urban Affairs and Policy Research at Northwestern University where he is a professor. Most of all John is a storyteller, a political philosopher, prophet and activist. This video is a moving talk about building communities where everyone can give their gifts as citizens. Community building for John McKnight is not a sentimental journey but a job to be done by citizens, neighbors, families and friends. A great complement to the video is John's newest book The Careless Society.

Audience: Everyone involved in moving from a deficiency model or work to a capacity building model whether in communities, schools, workplaces, human service organization, the medical profession, probation and parole, adult education. Everyone!

This is a must read for all fans of John McKnight. The chapters of the book were written over the last two decades when human service systems overwhelmed communities. Four counterfeiting aspects of society are analyzed: professionalism, medicine, human service systems, and the criminal justice system. The last two sections are on authentic citizen communities of care. This book of essays will provoke you to think and

It is one thing to agree that the goal of integration is morally and legally right; it is another thing to commit oneself positively and actively to the ideal of integration - the former is intellectual assent, the latter is actual belief. These are days that demand practices to match professions. This is no day to pay lip service to integration, we must pay life service to it.

When Spider Webs Unite Challenging Articles & Essays on Community, Diversity and Inclusion

by Shafik Asante

136 pages. Softbound from Inclusion Press.
ISBN 1-895418-32-1 $20.00

Shafik Asante's book will challenge you to broaden the definition of inclusion and to look at the issues of oppression and liberation in a fresh new way. Shafik's articles are short and punchy - from the point of view of a community organizer, a human rights leader, and a parent.

The book has four theme areas including Alliance Building; Villaging; Inclusive Community Building; Disability Issues; Leadership and Organizing.

On those days when one feels down and tired and wondering whether change can and will really happen this is the book to pick up and read again and again. The content is electric.

A complementary video is also titled When Spider Webs Unite: Shafik Asante in Action. Both are inspiring to use at meetings, conferences or to watch with your own family. Shafik Asante leaves us a legacy of love and a lasting message of hope based on hard work and the intense organizing it takes to build better and more inclusive communities for the future.

Audience: Teachers, human service, community organizers, advocates, families.

When Spider Webs Unite Shafik Asante in Action

37 minutes (Includes 4 minute slide tribute finale) $75.00

This 37 minute video keeps the work and spirit of Shafik Asante alive. We see Shafik in action - talking, laughing, challenging, motivating, inspiring. This video is a treasure for those of us who were fortunate enough to know Shafik personally and as well for those of you who never met him in person.

Shafik speaks about inclusion, liberation, leadership, youth and the future. He doesn't mince words. In this hard hitting video Shafik challenges us to make inclusive community happen or else betray it and each other.

The final four minutes of the video is a slide show tribute to Shafik Asante. The South African Anthem "Mother Africa" from the film Cry Freedom plays in the background as photos of Shafik fill the screen along with his most favorite sayings, "What part of All don't you understand?", "If you build it they will come, If you bake it they will stay," and of course his favorite quotation "When spider webs unite, they can tie up the lion."

Audience: Educators, advocates, people working in human service, human rights, diversity, community...

Unequal Justice?

by Bob Perske

122 pages, Softbound from Abingdon Press, ISBN 0-687-42983-8

This extraordinary book looks at 'What Can Happen When People with Retardation or other Developmental Disabilities Encounter the Criminal Justice System.'

A man with retardation sat on the witness stand.

"Jerome, did you assassinate President Lincoln?"

"Yes," Jerome said.

"Did you assassinate President Kennedy?"

"Yes," Jerome said.

Incidents like this demonstrate how people with retardation and similar disabilities - whether they are guilty or innocent - can often be shockingly defenseless when questioned under pressure in America's criminal justice system.

Presenting actual crime issues and cases, Perske casts fresh light on all the ways these persons can be misunderstood by criminal justice officials.

Audience: A must read for those who work with or care about persons with disabilities.

Made for Happiness:

Discovering the Meaning of Life with Aristotle

& Becoming Human by Jean Vanier

Anansi Press, 1998 & 2001, Toronto, Ontario, Canada

In Becoming Human, Jean Vanier shares his profoundly human vision for creating a common good that radically changes our communities, our relationships, and ourselves. He proposes that by opening ourselves to outsiders, those we perceive as weak, different, or inferior, we can achieve true personal and societal freedom.

Our society shuns weakness and glorifies strength. By embracing weakness, however, we learn new ways of living and discover greater compassion, trust and understanding. This spirit of inclusion has extraordinary implications for the way we live our lives and build our communities.

The Authors of Inclusion Press

Prepared by Jack Pearpoint

There are no strangers among the authors at Inclusion Press. Each writer is a valued and personal friend - and part of the wide network working tirelessly to make this truly a just and inclusive world.

Each book we publish or distribute is carefully chosen with one purpose in mind - to help someone somewhere make this world just a little bit better.

We thank each of our authors and we know our readers will enjoy knowing a little about who they are as people and how to contact them. (listed in alphabetical order.)

Shafik Asante

Our comrade Shafik passed away in 1997. His voice and heart is still alive today in our books and videos. Founder of New African Voices in Philadelphia and a human rights advocate internationally, Shafik spoke out against all forms of injustice - racism, sexism, and indeed all the "isms" that plague us in this century. His work is being carried out by his colleagues Bahiya and Nkosi.

Gary Bunch

We've known Gary over 20 years. He is a respected scholar and researcher and one of the hardest working professors at York University in Toronto. Gary is also the proud dad of six children. He is tireless in his work and loyal in his friendship. He has sat with Jack during Marsha's surgery and we have been through thick and thin with each other. His books are a major contribution to the field of inclusive education and community. Tel: 416-736-5002 Fax: 416-736-5913 E-mail: gbunch@edu.yorku.ca

Mary Falvey & Richard Rosenberg

Mary and Richard are two extraordinary educators and people in the California area. Mary works at California State University, Los Angeles and Richard is the vocational coordinator, Whittier Union High School District - Transition Programs. Together this dynamic duo change the students and communities they touch. Tel: 562-692-1647 Fax: 562-692-1657 E-mail: RFrosenberg4@compuserve.com MFalvey@calstatela.edu

Janice Fialka

Janice is a gifted writer, poet and speaker whose focus is in the capacity of partnerships between parents and professionals. She says her greatest teacher is her son Micah, who teaches us all. Tel: 248-546-4870 E-mail: RUAW@aol.com

Marsha Forest & Jack Pearpoint

Marsha and Jack were founders, publishers, authors and video producers for Inclusion Press - until Marsha's untimely death, June 2, 2000. They traveled the world for 20+ years with their message that ALL BELONG. They did training on inclusion, diversity and change. They are considered human rights activists and are most proud of their achievement of creating a small press that is part of the worldwide movement for peace and justice.

Jack continues the work with the Press, and workshops. Before creating the press, Jack was the President of Frontier College for 16 years. Before that, he spent several years in Africa with CUSO. Marsha was a professor at York University's Faculty of Education, the Visiting Scholar at the G. Alan Roeher Institute and the Director of Education for Frontier College.

David Hasbury

David lives down the street. He is a master MAPS and PATH facilitator and works closely with families of children with disabilities, People First and survivors of abuse. He is an excellent facilitator, workshop leader, speaker and writer. Dave has worked at high schools, community colleges, and now has his own small consulting organization. A man of loyalty and integrity, he is a welcome part of our Inclusion Press team. E-mail: hasbury@cocreation.ca

Gail Jacob

Gail has been working for 25 years with people to help them find homes of their own and to become part of the community. She was director of Options in Community Living for 16 years - one of the first supported living programs in North America. She sees this work as part of a larger liberation movement of people who are oppressed, segregated and denied freedoms in this world.

Tel: 608-238-9250 E-mail: gdcabob@facstaff.wisc.edu

Cathy Ludlum

Cathy is a pioneer and advocate for inclusion - in addition to being a wonderful writer. When she wanted to live in the community - she build a coop. When she wanted a new spirituality - she became a Jew. When she wanted to tell the Circles story - she wrote the book. Cathy lives and works from Connecticut. Tel: 608-238-9250 E-mail: cludlum01@snet.net

Father Patrick Mackan

Father Pat passed away in 1990 just as the Press began. He was writing Reflections on Inclusive Education, now a classic in the field. Pat was our partner, friend and mentor. A Catholic Priest, and a lover of life and people, Pat was a true human rights advocate. He was a high school teacher, a headmaster, a spirit of love. His books and videos (Kids Belong Together) keep his voice and spirit alive.

Nick Marsh

Nick Marsh from Auckland, New Zealand was the director of the MBA program at Auckland University till he ran away to "study and join" the circus in order to write his book The All Star Company. His vision is to make a difference and inspire businesses around the world to shift their consciousness. E-mail: marsh@globallforesight.co.nz

John McKnight

John McKnight is a loyal and constant friend and advisor. He has been with us through the beginnings of the McGill Summer Institute and now the Toronto Summer Institute. John is Director of Community Studies at the Institute for Policy Research at Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois. He is a much published author and provocative speaker. John is overall a storyteller - that is his gift. He is also a brilliant social policy analyst and organizer for change. Tel: 847-491-3518 Fax: 847-491-9916 E-mail: a-murray@nwu.edu

Colin Newton & Derek Wilson

Colin and Derek are the co-founders of Inclusive Solutions - based in Nottingham, UK. They are remarkable trainers and teachers who are part of a leadership movement to translate "All Welcome" into a reality in schools everywhere. 40 years of experiences as educational psychologists with a difference - now on a mission to include all children. Great Book. Great Training. E-mail: inclusivesolutions@ntlworld.com

John O'Brien

John is the Grand Exalted Pooh Bah of Inclusion Press and an indispensable friend and advisor. He is the co-creator of all the major tools we use: Circles, MAPS, PATH, Solution Circles. He is a dear and treasured friend who is always there for us on e-mail and in person. John travels extensively helping organizations think deeply about what they are doing. He puts a human face on the service system. He is the proud dad of two grown sons both now in graduate school and the loving partner of another one of our authors Connie Lyle O'Brien. When not traveling Connie and John live in Lithonia, Georgia. Tel: 770-987-9785 Fax: 770-322-1255 E-mail: RSA770@earthlink.net

Connie Lyle O'Brien

Connie is a tenacious advocate and thinker on behalf of people with disabilities and their families. She and her partner, John O'Brien, run a small organization called Responsive Systems, Inc. (No Pit too Deep). She dares to go where angels fear to tread. Connie's writing is thoughtful, provocative and passionate as is she herself. She lives the idea of community with a huge family of siblings, nieces and dozens of cousins in Georgia. Tel: 770-987-9785 Fax: 770-322-1255 E-mail: connielyleobrien@mac.com

Bob Perske

We haven't published Bob's books, but we proudly distribute three of his finest. He is the mentor of Inclusion Press who set us off on the right direction both ethically, morally and spiritually. "Don't get greedy and publish only what you love and will help people," he advised us. We took his advice. Bob works tirelessly to right the wrongs done to people with mental handicaps unjustly accused by the criminal justice system. Along with his talented artist wife, Martha Perske, they have made an indelible and lasting contribution to making this planet a better place to live. Get Circle of Friends with text by Bob and pencil sketches by Martha. Tel: 203-655-4135 Fax: 203-655-0635

Nicola Schaefer

Nicola Schaefer is a long time friend. Her first book Does She Know She's There was a best seller over 30 years ago when her daughter Catherine was just a child. It inspired parents of that generation. Her newest book celebrates Catherine and Nicola's life and once again inspires us all. Tel: 204-475-1235 Fax: 204-453-3615

Judith Snow

Judith is the philosopher of Inclusion Press. She is a leading human rights activist, international lecturer, writer, thinker and undaunting advocate for social change. She is currently working on a book and speaking internationally. She is inspiring and truly like the "unsinkable Molly Brown." There are few to compare to Judith Snow. Tools for Change:

NEW COURSE based on Tools for Change CD ROM

Think about the challenges you face personally - as a trainer, facilitator, leader, administrator, team member, family member, or user of support services. This dynamic and interactive course will be a catalyst for you to identify issues (and using the tools and approaches on this CD) help sustain your efforts, and find innovative solutions. Working with Your issues, we will explore the tools on the CD so you take home new skills to survive & facilitate change in your situation.

The focus is on tools you can implement in your situation. Examples:

- Setting the Tone and The Essentials: Color, Music, Food;
- Listening Tools: Talking Stick, Neighborhood Rounds, Scuba Rules.
- Community & Team Building Tools: Making Meetings Matter, etc.
- Problem Solving Tools: Solution Circles, The Four Questions, & more..

All the tools are based in the belief that ALL BELONG; ALL Can Be Creative & Productive; Everyone can be a Contributing Member of Society.

Design for Change

A challenging three day intensive Design for Change Course with John O'Brien & Jack Pearpoint as guides. This is for people who have participated in the Creative Facilitator, the Summer Institute, or other events with John, Jack or Marsha - or equivalent. It is rigorous, exciting & challenging leadership development. It will give participants time to scan, focus and then design a change plan for their organization, family or themselves. No one will go home untouched or unchanged.

"I came to this course to take the time to stop and reflect on what I was really doing. I went home with a design that I can implement over time. The best new thinking I've done in years. Bring a small team so you can go back home and keep on working. This unique experience lasts." Participant

Mother Teresa

If we are to achieve a richer culture, rich in contrasting values, we must recognize the whole gamut of human potentialities, and so weave a less arbitrary social fabric, one in which each diverse gift will find a fitting place.

Creating Circles of Friends

A Peer Support and Inclusion Workbook

by Colin Newton and Derek Wilson

Paperback published by Inclusive Solutions, Nottingham, UK,

94 pages, ISBN 0-9546351-0-8

$25.00

Colin and Derek, educational psychologists in Nottingham City, have recently created INCLUSIVE SOLUTIONS to take their work on the road. Their book shows how building a child's circle of friends can increase their sense of belonging whilst reducing the incidence of disruption. The approach contributes to improved classroom performance and strengthens friendships, personal relationships and growth. Great book - great team!

ONE CANDLE POWER Seven Principles that Enhance the Lives of People with Disabilities and Their Communities

Revised by Cathy Ludlum with the Communitas Team

One Candle Power

The Communitas Team wrote 7 booklets on supporting Circles nearly 15 years ago. They were brilliant. At long last, this wisdom has been updated so we can all review the lessons and powerful stories about the complexity and wonder of Circles of Support.

If you have anything to do with Circles, supporting a person, or thinking about long term community options, you need this book.

NEW Resources for Person-Centered Planning

Person-Centered Planning with MAPS and PATH A Workbook for Facilitators

John O'Brien & Jack Pearpoint

with contributions by:

Marsha Forest David Hasbury Connie Lyle O'Brien Beth Mount
Judith Snow David & Faye Wetherow

ISBN 1-895418-47-X (2003) $25.00

This new book was developed over time as a collection of handouts for our three day course teaching MAPS and PATH. Due to popular demand, we have supplemented it and now it is a stand alone workbook to assist facilitators in their learning and implementing of PATH and MAPS processes.

It is excellent for training purposes, students, workshops - as well as an updated person centered planning resource.

This workbook does not replace the PATH manual, but does provide summary introductory information. It is an excellent addition to the resource collection which of course includes the PATH and MAPS training videos.

[PATH is a creative planning tool which starts in the future and works backwards to an outcome of first (beginning) steps that are possible and positive. It is excellent for team building. It has been used to mediate conflicts. It is loved by people who actually want to change the ways we currently work. Groups teaching PATH as a tool will hopefully have a copy for each student. PATH is not for the faint of heart. It is very results oriented.]

Audience: Anyone doing PATH. Relevant for all ages and all populations. Now in use by architects, small business firms, medical professionals, aboriginal communities and organizations, as well as educators and human service providers.

Hints for Graphic Facilitators

by Jack Pearpoint

110 pages. Softbound from Inclusion Press (2002), ISBN 1-895418-45-3 $25.00

Struggling with Graphics? Scared? Want to try but not sure where to begin?

This is the right place. Start here. Simple, user friendly instructions for how YOU can start, and /or improve your graphic facilitation. This is the beginner book hundreds of budding graphic facilitators have been waiting for.

Hundreds of friendly hints from the experienced fingers of Jack Pearpoint.

This book is an introduction to graphic facilitation. If you are curious, nervous, terrified, or even better just want to try graphics on for size, this is the book for you.

The underlying assumption is that we all have this gift, and we just need to remember how we did it when we were children. Thus, it includes beginning steps, and has hundreds of images that you can build on. Most are very simple, but color panels also demonstrate how felt pens and pastel crayons can make everyone's work lively and colorful.

If you are working in Person Centered Planning in its many forms, MAPS, PATH, Circles, and more, and wondering about the graphics you need, you need this book.

You can do this. Get the book. Try it. You'll like it.

PERSON-CENTERED DIRECT SUPPORT foldouts & CD

Resources to Develop
PERSON-CENTERED DIRECT SUPPORT WORKERS

People who rely on personal assistants need workers who find meaning in offering service in person-centered ways. A sense of meaning increases the chances of retaining workers and an understanding of what it means to work in a person-centred way increases the chances that workers will make a positive difference in the lives of the people and families they assist. Appreciate inquiry into the performance of direct support workers when they are at their best reveals a relationship that engages their hearts, their minds and their hands.

In collaboration with a group of direct support workers in New York City, Beth Mount and John O'Brien identified 12 themes that make a positive difference to quality of life...

Share Life's Journey
Create Understanding
Generate Respect

Raise Expectations
Listen with Heart
Build Alliances

Open Choices
Learn the Neighborhood
Let Beauty Shine

Support Voice
Celebrate Community
Nurture Relationships

Raise Expectations

We search out knowledge that will increase our idea of what is possible.
We encourage one another to pursue our dreams.

Discovering these themes inspired the creation of three resources to guide the development of person-centered direct support. They can be used for staff development, conference handouts, staff appreciation, or retreats.

The FOLDOUT/POSTER

The foldout includes 12 color images and a description for each of these themes. The centerfold of the foldout can also be displayed as a poster.

Foldout price: $5/copy BULK Price: $3/copy for 100 bulk

The CD - Slide Show Presentation

A slide show (powerpoint and/or quicktime movie) is also available on a CD complementing the foldout. Excellent for Training presentations.

Price $25.00

A poster of a quilt that brings all twelve themes into a single pattern is available from: www.capacityworks.com

Implementing Person-Centered Planning Voices of Experience

edited by John O'Brien and Connie Lyle O'Brien 420 pages, Softbound from Inclusion Press
ISBN 1-895418-50-X published (2002) $25.00

If you liked "A Little Book About Person Centered Planning", you will love this sequel. Brilliant editing by John O'Brien and Connie Lyle O'Brien ensure that every article is pointed and useful. Wide ranging authors touch on the hard issues involved in implementing Person-Centered Planning on the ground.

Essential as a Teaching Resource. Practical as an organizational ideas bank.

Community: Lost & Found

A Conversation Between Two Dreamers
by Art Lockhart & Michael Clarke

Stories about community organizing - about building community - stories from the street. If you are struggling with community violence, dropouts, street kids, homelessness, violence, abuse - read about how Art and Michael have created new positive choices for people by organizing the community, the street - us. Art and Michael have years of 'street smarts' which they share in readable form. They are leaders in Restorative Justice. You will love their spirit - their hope - as they tackle complex messes and create positive options. A must for people searching for better ways to create healthy communities - with spirit.
