INCLUSION PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Inclusion, Community, Diversity

Publishers: Jack Pearpoint, Lynda Kahn & Cathy Hollands

About the Press...

Inclusion Press was born out of frustration and hope. The Press began because we listened to the power of individual and family stories. We thought they would be helpful and important to others. There was no publisher who judged 'inclusion stories' to be worthy of telling. So in 1989 Jack Pearpoint and Marsha Forest (1942 - 2000) decided to 'do it anyway,' and created a small independent press - Inclusion Press International.

Inclusion Press is very choosy about what we create, publish and share. Key criteria are that we must love it, and the foundational beliefs that created the press are still at our core. We believe in possibility. We believe 'Everyone Belongs'. We believe that 'All Means All'; 'Together We're Better'; 'Inclusion means WITH - Not Just In'. We believe in the power of stories. We believe 'Everyone has a Gift - No Exceptions'. We believe in Community Capacity, and that 'We are the resources we need'. We believe that 'Everyone is Ready - Now - so don't wait!' We believe that 'The Criteria for Inclusion is Breathing - with a respirator if you need one'. We believe inclusion is for everyone: any age, any place, anytime - no exceptions. We believe this work is not about "disability"; it is about all of us. However, because people labelled "disabled" are so often excluded from full participation, we believe that creating schools, communities and cultures that welcome people with disabilities will be catalytic in creating warmer 'welcomes' for all people.

As part of the team that created Circles of Support, MAPS and PATH, a major theme is to share our ongoing learning about processes that will assist individuals, families, organizations and agencies to create futures where 'all belong' as contributing citizens in community. These practices and others we have developed, are 'generic' - for people of all ages, all issues large and small - for anyone & everyone. They respond to 'life' issues we all face. They are intentionally not diagnosis specific.

We have introduced these practices in many countries and cultures. Remarkably, they seem to work because they are about listening to a person. Our approaches are frameworks to help us listen with focus, care, attention and intention.

The Press relies on the talent and inspiration of many, but none more than John O'Brien, one of our key collaborators and principal authors, backed by the spirit of Marsha Forest (our co-founder who passed away in 2000). Today, Lynda, Cathy & Jack carry on the vision, and the commitment to create equity and justice for all.

Jack Pearpoint & Lynda Kahn

Jack and Lynda together share a passion for life, as husband and wife, and as partners in their work as creators of books and learning materials that assist people experiencing disability to live full lives. They share a wealth of knowledge and skill developed through experience as executive leaders in government and non-profit organizations, as educators, and as facilitators of processes of collaborative change. They are capable of guiding plans for positive change in back rooms and board rooms of agencies and governments. They sit comfortably at kitchen tables, in basements and maraes, with families and friends, neighbours and community members.

Their work as consultants, educators, and facilitators takes them all over the world. Lynda & Jack design workshops and processes that meet the unique needs of organizations and teams; they teach the processes they have developed and continue to create. Strategic planning, visioning and leadership development are more than topics. They are among the array of resources offered to individuals and organizations who are committed to co-creating the futures we want, and building a just world where communities welcome the gifts of all.

Table of Contents

WHO WE ARE

p 2

PATH • MAPS • PERSON-CENTERED PLANNING p 4-6

PERSON-CENTERED WAYS OF WORKING p 7-17

Books & DVD's that focus on Person-Centered/Person Directed Planning, the PATH, MAPS and Circles practices we have created, along with resources that tell the stories, and reveal the learnings of nearly four decades of our engagement in this vital work.

CREATING COMMUNITY

p 17-23

We have been collaborating with John McKnight, Mike Green and other developers of Asset Based Community Development (ABCD) for nearly three decades. Books, DVD's, stories of 'how to' and 'how it was when we did it' are invaluable resources on our journeys to build even more resilient communities that welcome all.

STORIES

p 24-29

We believe that the language of inclusion is stories – in books and DVD's. Here are some remarkable stories of struggle and accomplishment: stories of Judith Snow; of circles and personal support networks; of lives full of passion and contribution in the community. These resources feed your soul.

EDUCATION RESOURCES

p 30-37

Resources to support families; teachers and school systems to welcome all children into regular classrooms – to discover and nurture the gifts and capacities in every person. Beginning with Circles of Friends, MAPS and then PATH, we have also created initiatives like PlayFair Teams to nurture a culture of belonging, equity and community, and to address bullying and build life long capacity for contribution in the community.

OTHER LANGUAGE BOOKS

p 38-40

We have a few resources that have been translated into Spanish, Portuguese, Russian, French and Korean... All are free downloads.

MPAMBO AFRIKAN MULTIVERSITY publications p 41

We are collaboratin with MPAMBO African Multiversity is working to review ancient spiritual, linguistic and cultural wisdom of the source of the Nile in Uganda.

TORONTO SUMMER INSTITUTE

p 43-45

A remarkable international gathering of thinkers, learners, families, and individuals. Initiated in 1984, the Institute maintains a 'learning edge' and generates life altering conversations and experiences in a global community where everyone belongs, all means all, and inclusion is not up for debate. Join us in July in Toronto.

PATH: A Workbook for Planning Positive Possible Futures

(PATH CLASSIC)

Planning Alternative Tomorrows with Hope for Schools,
Organizations, Businesses and Families

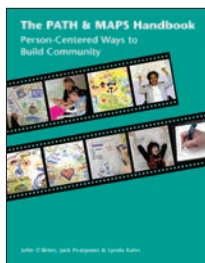

Jack Pearpoint, John O'Brien, Marsha Forest

ISBN 1-895418-10-0

$25.00

A guide to exciting, creative, colorful futures planning for families, organizations and schools to build caring "including" places to live, work & learn. PATH - is an eight step planning approach involving dreaming and thinking backwards. Color graphic included! This is PATH Classic - the original - still as relevant as the day it was first printed!

The PATH & MAPS Handbook

Person-Centered Ways to Build Community

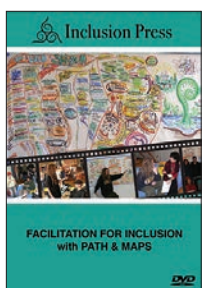

John O'Brien, Jack Pearpoint and Lynda Kahn

ISBN 978-1-895418-91-0

$35.00

This handbook reflects what we have learned since Jack and John and Marsha wrote the PATH Workbook in 1995. It provides a stronger foundation for PATH and MAPS by connecting person-centered planning to the work of community building. It makes the basis for good facilitation more explicit and suggests some ways that facilitators can improve their practice. It offers new ways to frame the questions in both PATH and MAPS. It presents a template for MAPS that we have found usually works better than the cycle of eight questions with which many people are familiar. It emphasizes creative work with imagery as integral to the process of exploring people's gifts and highest purposes.

Facilitation for Inclusion with PATH & MAPS (DVD)

a new DVD with Jack Pearpoint & Lynda Kahn

ISBN 978-1-895418-97-2

Produced by Inclusion Press with Parashoot Productions

FACILITATION for INCLUSION DVD $75.00

FACILITATION PACK: Facilitation for Inclusion DVD with PATH & MAPS Handbook $100.00

Everything (well many things) you always wanted to know about facilitation...

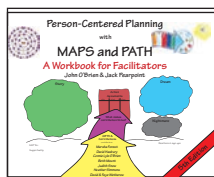

- but were afraid to ask...
- but felt you were on the wrong PATH...
- but couldn't get there without a MAP...
- tips, hints, reflections, lessons learned the hard way...

The FACILITATION for INCLUSION with PATH & MAPS DVD is a companion to our new book, The PATH & MAPS Handbook, Person-Centred Ways to Build Community. The DVD features Jack Pearpoint and Lynda Kahn as they share their insights on the many subtle techniques of facilitation.

The DVD has two components:

- A demonstration of a MAP for a young man with a commentary focusing on facilitation practices.
- A demonstration PATH with an organization (SKETCH) as they think about their future. If you are a facilitator - this will support your facilitation journey to be a powerful supporter to assist people to discover their gifts and to be full participating citizens in the community.

Person-Centered Planning with MAPS and PATH

A Workbook for Facilitators, 5th Edition - new additions

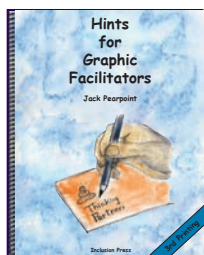

John O'Brien & Jack Pearpoint

ISBN 1-895418-46-1

$25.00

This book is a great "kickstarter" of conversation and thinking that can shape the practice of Person Centered Planning. The book includes short articles and exercises that can be used to facilitate a deeper understanding of the multiple dimensions involved in assisting people as they develop plans for their lives. The book helps facilitators think about "what" they are facilitating, and "how" they might approach this work. It was developed as resource for our 3 day MAPS and PATH course, but its articles and exercises can be used to spark thinking and understanding of the simplicity, and complexity of Person Centered Planning with facilitators, students, service providers, and families.

Hints for Graphic Facilitators

Jack Pearpoint

ISBN 1-895418-45-3

$25.00

Starting out or want a graphics refresher? Try this simple 'how to' book. A powerful facilitation practice - an introduction to graphic facilitation. If you are curious, nervous, terrified, or even better, just want to try graphics on for size, this is the book for you.

The underlying assumption: we all have this gift. We just need to remember how we did it when we were children. Thus, it includes beginning steps, and has hundreds of images that you can build on. Most are very simple. Color panels also demonstrate how felt pens and pastel crayons can make everyone's work lively and colorful.

The PATH DVD

Contains these complete videos:

PATH in Action Training Video (65 min.)

PATH Training: Joe's PATH (35 min.)

ISBN: 978-1-895418-78-1

$75.00

Produced by Inclusion Press with Parashoot Productions

In DVD format, a menu allows you to move directly from segment to segment throughout both videos. Ideal for training and presentations. PATH is a planning process that helps anyone move into the future, effectively and creatively. This two-in-one training packet is used to provide support and instruction to people concerned with excellence and integrity in Person-Centered Planning processes.

These are excellent examples of a PATH with a group of school administrators, human service providers and families who want to create an inclusive school system. Marsha Forest and Jack Pearpoint go through each step of the process in detail following process questions as outlined in the 'PATH Classic' Workbook. The two videos together will give the viewer a good glimpse into how PATH can be done with the focus on an individual or with a group. In addition, the newer books PATH & MAPS Handbook and FACILITATION FOR INCLUSION DVD will supplement these basic foundation videos.

The MAPS DVD

Contains these complete videos:

Rediscovering MAPS: Charting Your Journey (74 min.)

Shafik's MAP (45 min.) + Judith Snow on Dreaming (8.5 min.)

Produced by Inclusion Press with Parashoot Productions

ISBN: 978-1-895418-81-1

$75.00

In DVD format, a menu allows you to move directly from segment to segment throughout both tapes. Ideal for training and presentations. Easy access to the clip you need. MAPS is a planning process that begins from story and history, then brings forth a person's gifts. It helps anyone move into the future, effectively and creatively. This two-in-one training packet is used to provide support and instruction to people concerned with excellence and integrity in Person-Centered Planning processes.

Pathfinders

John O'Brien and Beth Mount

196 pages

ISBN 978-1-987935-02-8

$25.00

Our communities work better for everybody when people with developmental disabilities act as contributing citizens. Pathfinders -people with developmental disabilities and their families who want more than is available to them- gather allies and generate the social inventions that build inclusive communities. Their self-directed journeys develop capacities for real homes, real jobs, real education and real community participation. Service providers who choose to partner with them become more creative and flexible.

John O'Brien and Beth Mount have learned from pathfinders and their partners about individualized support, person-centered planning, self-direction, system change and supporting families to be social inventors. They tell stories of change, identify what has worked and what has not and introduce Theory U, an approach to social change based on deep listening, connection to people's highest purposes, and learning through creative action.

<http://inclusion.com/bkpathfinders.html>

John and Beth are wise elders who have honed the capacity for endless learning, matched with curiosity, creativity and innovation. This is yet another collaborative project that builds on their remarkable partnership, their mutual fascination with Theory-U and the work of Otto Scharmer and colleagues that challenges us to transform our broken systems and have the courage to lean into emerging futures that we can only just glimpse. John and Beth push themselves and us to have the courage to prototype future possibilities where everyone is a contributing citizen - no exceptions. Another brilliant leap into the future we so desperately need to create.

$125.00

We believe that . . .

. . . direct support workers make an essential contribution to the lives of people with developmental disabilities and their families when they are committed, competent, and caring. These exercises look at what makes for good work.

. . . a sense of meaning cannot be poured into people. People construct meaning for themselves in focused conversation about important questions. Each of these exercises focus and structure time for reflection.

. . . people who do direct support work can benefit from reflection on its meaning; so can people who manage or coordinate services; so can people with disabilities and their families who are interested in hiring and directing their own staff. This set of ten exercises assists anyone who wants the chance to think more deeply about supporting people with developmental disabilities to live well connected lives of their own choosing.

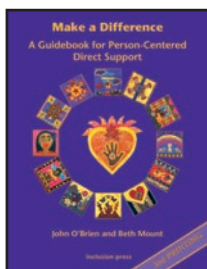

. . . the purpose of this set of exercises is to encourage reflection so that interested people can form a richer and more meaningful picture of the work of providing direct support to people with developmental disabilities and their families.

. . . each of these structured exercises can be done in 1-2 hours. A single exercise can be done in a staff or team meeting. Exercises can be sequenced for staff development days or for agency retreats.

Creating Blue Space

Fostering Innovative Support Practices for People with Developmental Disabilities

Hanns Meissner

Forward by John O'Brien

ISBN: 978-1-927771-02-0 $25.00 Includes Exercise Book download

Hanns Meissner has emerged from years of 'formation' at The Arc of Rensselaer County in Eastern New York State with lessons learned from a journey of individualizing supports. His agency's story is one of relentless commitment of creating enough blue space for innovative ways to support and flourish in spite of system constraints. Read, reflect, and learn about "bushwhacking" through the bureaucratic wilderness so you too can create blue space for innovation and citizenship for all to blossom.

Organizations and agencies looking to transform their existing services to more innovative, individualized supports will find this to be a fantastically helpful guide

- Ann Hardiman, Exec Director, New York State Association of Residential and Community Agencies

Creating Blue Space is Meissner's offering to transformational leaders everywhere who are concerned about blazing a trail through an era of uncertainty.

- Carol Blessing, Faculty, Employment & Disability Institute, ILR School, Cornell Univ.

Beautifully written, ground breaking, profound thinking...The book is the calm, clear eye at the center of the storm of modernism.

Finding Directions for Change Using Personal Futures Planning

Beth Mount Ph.D.

This is the original handbook of values, ideals, and methods for facilitators of Personal Futures Plan. It outlines the five assumptions of person-centered planning, the five valued experiences that guide the development of a personal vision, and the six tasks and related tools of Personal Futures Planning. The book includes sample formats, illustrations, and instructions.

The Imaginative Journey Pathway Cards

Beth Mount

The Imaginative Journey Pathway Cards describe twenty six investments of time and attention that strengthen the connection between person-centered planning and social innovation. The Pathway Cards support people and their allies to go on a journey toward citizenship by sensing opportunities and capacities, becoming aware of the highest potential in a situation, and learning by doing. Along each pathway, artifacts will be created to help discern the way, discoveries will come, and needed actions will become clear and crystallize into prototypes. Like a rudder on a ship, even small efforts will redirect time, energy and attention toward new supports. As teams create and refine multiple prototypes of better support, a culture of social innovation grows. Each Pathway Card presents a task, inspiration for the journey, instruction, and suggestions for making artifacts related to four dimensions of capacity building:

INNOVATE by generating social inventions

AMPLIFY capacities in people and strengthen vision

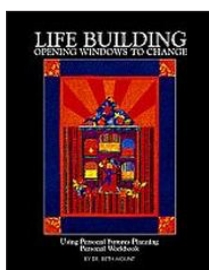

ACTIVATE initiative in community-building, and

ASSOCIATE to inspire the capacity of inclusive communities.

The Imaginative Journey Pathway Cards can be used by individuals, families, and change teams who are invested in organizational learning and community building. Join with others and make your own Pathways to Citizenship with The Imaginative Journey as a guide.

LIVES of DISTINCTION e-Book - free download

Creating a Life PATH Using Individualized Supports

by Beth Mount Ph.D. in collaboration with Job Path, New York City, New York

© Graphic Futures and Job Path, 2007 All rights reserved

Lives of Distinction puts forth the vision that every person with a disability has a distinctive contribution to make to the world. When we discover and develop these contributions, and make connections between people and places in the community, these contributions become visible, and people's lives are enriched. This publication features ten people with disabilities who are contributing to community life through Job Path's Community Supports Program. They are engaged in valued experiences such as working, volunteering, exploring cultural resources, engaging in artistic endeavors pursuing spiritual interests, working out, traveling, building relationships, and participating in neighborhood life.

WISH FULFILLING JUSTICE e-Book - free download

Creating Individualized Residential Supports with Homebuilders

by Beth Mount, Carole Gothelf and Jennifer Teich

© Graphic Futures and AHRC New York City, 2009. All rights reserved

Wish Fulfilling Justice puts forth the vision that people with severe disabilities can live in their own homes with the devotion and support of others who create riches of life together. The stories in this paper provide examples of residential design that maximize people's relationships to others—their families, paid support workers, natural supports and community members. We believe that that the success of individualized supports relies on the quality of relationships that sustain people over time. Therefore, above all, we should make design decisions that maximize the growing network of supports for people.

"This book guides us all to critically reflect on our practices of leadership and support to others and to foster relationships of reciprocity, gentleness and deep compassion. A truly useful and practical resource for anyone supporting individuals with autism or other developmental disabilities."

Michael Bach, Ph.D. Executive V-President Canadian Assoc. for Community Living

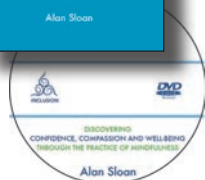

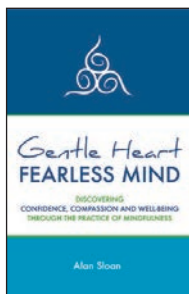

"This is... the scaffolding for human compassion and kindness which are the foundations of good healthcare and support. .. In a world so deeply dependent on the misuse of power to mobilize others, CCS offers us an alternative use of intent."

Michele Chaban, Dir., AMM Factor-Inwentash School of Social Work, U of Toronto

"Want to help? It turns out that to help people effectively, you have to learn to help yourself. The heart of this wise book is a set of brilliant strategies for applying mindfulness to the most challenging situations. This is a tremendous resource, of years of on-the-ground experience distilled into practical step-by-step guidelines, and all of it backed by solid scientific research."

Gentle Heart Fearless Mind

Alan Sloan

DVD Version or Audio MP3 Version - with booklet

ISBN 978-1-895418-95-8

$30.00

Produced by Inclusion Press with Parashoot Productions

- four short introductory talks on mindfulness
- four in-depth talks
- a 39 page booklet with detailed instructions and FAQ

The workshop presentations are ideal for individual or group practice, at home or work. In 1970, Alan met his meditation teacher, Chogyam Trungpa, author of: Shambhala: The Sacred Path of the Warrior. For thirty years, Alan has been a teacher of Shambhala Training®, a series of weekend programs that emphasize a secular approach to mindfulness practice. The sessions are deeply rooted in Trungpa's teachings on basic human goodness, confidence, compassion, awareness and humour. These principles are embodied in the Shambhala warrior, a person who overcomes his/her own aggression in order to fearlessly and skillfully care for others.

In this DVD workshop presentation, Alan presents these powerful teachings for a diverse audience. Anyone interested in developing a greater appreciation for life's joys and challenges will likely benefit from these very personal and practical teachings on mindfulness.

Fold-out 'posters' for your office, conferences, handouts...

We have three posters that summarize powerful learnings - for your wall, for reminders about what is really important, why we do this work.

Single: $5.00 Bundle of 10 - $ 25.00 Bundle of 25 - $ 50.00 Bundle of 100 - $ 100.00

Person-Centered Direct-Support Fold-out Poster

The fold-out includes 12 color images and a description of each of these themes.

The centerfold of the fold-out can also be displayed as a poster.

In collaboration with a group of direct support workers in New York City, Beth Mount and John O'Brien identified 12 themes that make a positive difference to quality of life...

Share Life's Journey	Create Understanding
Generate Respect	Raise Expectations
Listen with Heart	Build Alliances
Open Choices	Learn the Neighborhood
Let Beauty Shine	Support Voice
Celebrate Community	Nurture Relationships

People who rely on personal assistants need workers who find meaning in offering service in person-centered ways. A sense of meaning increases the chances of retaining workers and an understanding of what it means to work in a person-centred way increases the chances that workers will make a positive difference in the lives of the people and families they assist. <http://inclusion.com/cdpersoncentered.html#poster>

Valued Experiences & Accomplishments Fold-out Poster

This fold-out poster features the core Valued Experiences that guide our work, and the Service Accomplishments to which we aspire. This foundation work was developed by John O'Brien and Connie Lyle O'Brien. All citizens have better life chances, and everyone's world grows more interesting, when communities offer rich opportunities for people to have these five valued experiences:

Belonging in a diverse variety of relationships and memberships.

Being respected as whole persons whose history, capacities and futures are worthy

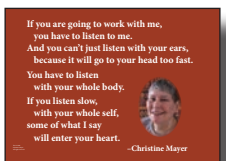

Sharing ordinary places & activities with other citizens, neighbors, classmates, +.

Contributing by discovering, developing, and giving their gifts and capacities

Choosing what they want in everyday situations that reflect their highest purpose. Having the freedom, support, information, and assistance to make the same choices

Taken together, these values provide a powerful quality framework.

What does it Mean to Listen? - Fold-out Poster

Christine Mayer has used support services for decades, and wrote this poem that gives us deep insight in to the power of genuine listening.

Listening to People who live with the consequences of a lifetime of isolation and discrimination is often painful, frightening and exciting.

Listening liberates energy. Blocked listening generates frustration.

Christine's wisdom helps us to notice:

Where we listen from;
What we listen for; and
How we Listen.

A Challenge from Judith Snow - Fold-out Poster

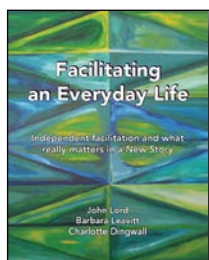

Judith Snow Poster - A two sided poster (11 X 17) honouring the wisdom and words of Judith Snow. A Challenge to 'walk together' and create together - and some words on the Power of Vulnerability.

The Challenge: Look around yourself for an opportunity to enter into a relationship with someone who has been exiled... Walk into the daily activities and environments of life with this person as dream and reality interact in a creative dance that expresses the meaning of life. Try this and may you rejoice in all that you create together.

The Power of Vulnerability: As fellow participants in an imperfect community many persons with disabilities have valuable gifts to offer.

Facilitating an Everyday Life Independent Facilitation & what really matters in a New Story

John Lord, Barbara Leavitt and Charlotte Dingwall

ISBN 978-1-895418-73-6

$30.00

This book is about independent facilitation...Independent facilitation frees facilitators to be dedicated to citizens who experience vulnerability because of labels, disability, chronic illness, poverty, or aging. Facilitators are independent of biases from others such as service systems and funding bodies.

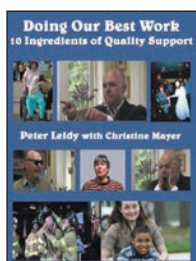

Independent facilitation puts belief and hope in community because that is where relationships and safeguards play out for all of us. Independent facilitation builds resilience and capacity in individuals, families, and communities. Independent facilitation flourishes when it is embedded in community, in facilitator networks, and is supported by local action and government policy.

This book is for people like us, people who want to make a difference, who want to feel free to be dedicated to a person; to citizens who experience vulnerability. Facilitators in the New Story believe that community is always the answer. And while independent facilitation may touch the service system to access supports for a person, it is independent of agendas, expectations, and accountabilities of service systems. John, Barbara & Charlotte

"Facilitating an Everyday Life is an invaluable resource that inspires and guides us in the craft of meaningful collaboration, real listening, dialogue, planning and problem-solving. Packed with practical guidelines and compelling examples, yet firmly rooted in the research and principles of self-determination, community connections and capacity building, it is a must read for anyone who loves or supports a person as a family member, friend, facilitator, support circle member, social service worker, or neighborhood leader."

Doing Our Best Work

10 Ingredients of Quality Support

Peter Leidy with Christine Mayer

$50.00

In this 17-minute video, Peter looks at ten essential components of quality direct support.

1. Believing in positive possibilities
2. Building community relationships
3. Listening deeply
4. Working as a team
5. Embracing curiosity
6. Understanding the power of language
7. Supporting people through relationships with them
8. Asking "What brings out the best in this person?"
9. Having power with, not power over
10. Questioning structures and policies that limit people

"Marvelous. Absolutely marvelous. I love how playful it is and how compelling it is all at the same time. I am impressed too by how well it is edited. It really moves well. I liked the captions, some of them serious and some of them fun ... a nice touch. I love it!" -- David Pitonyak (www.dimage.com)

Intentional Teaming Shifting Organizational Culture

Beth Gallagher and Kirk Hinkleman ISBN 978-1-895418-97-2 $20.00

This book is important because we are not just being told how, we are being shown that it can be done. Intentional Teaming represents a much needed paradigm shift in the ways we work with and care for each other.

Jeff Gaddess PhD, MA, Consultant, Manager, Cultural Mythologist, NamingandTreating.com

This approach that puts the person at the helm and offers concrete ideas for genuine support, pride, dignity and personalized participation of a labeled person and their support staff. You are going to love this book - and give it to everyone with whom you work.

Anne M. Donnellan, PhD., Professor, Director, University of San Diego Autism Institute

This book is a gift. ..great ideas, powerful stories, and even a Frisbee poem. The authors are passionate about building teams that make a difference by celebrating and trusting the gifts that each person brings to the table. This creates possibilities for deeper and wider connections for people with disabilities and their communities.

Peter Leidy Consultant, Advocate, Entertainer, www.peterleidy.com/

...a ground breaking gem that redefines the meaning of teaming & leadership... It unmaskes the power of genuine connectedness for people who support individuals with disabilities... comes alive through sharing...intentional teaming in action.

Members of Each Other

Building Community in Company with People with Developmental Disabilities

John O'Brien and Connie Lyle O'Brien ISBN 1-895418-24-0 $25.00

This collection of essays and reflections on practice explores the 'work at the boundaries' between people with developmental disabilities and other community members who, except for this work, would not meet each other and become part of one another's lives. In particular, initiatives described are aimed at:

- Linking people one to one (citizen advocacy) • Gathering people around helping a person define and pursue a desirable future (circles of support) • Assisting people to pursue their interests as members of community associations (connecting people to community associations).

Each of the essays, through the power of story and lessons learned, provides a different window on the work of shifting the boundaries of exclusion.

101 Ways to Make Friends

Ideas and conversation starters for people with disabilities and their supporters

Aaron Johannes and Susan Stanfield.

Illustrations by Aaron Johannes 2nd Edition

$23.00

This plain language and graphics text is being used in self-advocate groups, classrooms and by individuals and facilitators of various kinds. from Canada to New Zealand. This collection of ideas is based on conversations with people with disabilities, their friends, families, neighbours and networks about what had been successful for them as they expanded and deepened their networks. We know a circle of friends ensures more safety, that people will be healthier and happier and that they and their communities will be more resilient.

Susan Stanfield and Aaron Johannes have over 50 years of experience they have worked with many families, people with gifts and challenges, and staff as leaders, consultants, workshop presenters and constant co-learners.

"With research showing the power of networks and relationships, this little book is very timely. Not only does it capture the essence and importance of friendship, but it provides concrete strategies for people with disabilities, their families, and people who provide support." John Lord, Researcher and Author, Pathways to Inclusion

101 Ways to Facilitate Making Friends

How to Engage and Deepen Support Networks for People with Disabilities

Aaron Johannes, Susan Stanfield and Jim Reynolds.

Illustrated by Aaron Johannes. Foreword by David Pitonyak $27.00

On it's own or as a companion to the popular 101 Ways to Make Friends: ideas and conversation starters for people with disabilities and their supporters this collection of strategies is for parents, leaders and teachers of all kinds. Each idea is discussed with examples of how we have used it in our work with groups, in the community with individuals or have used it to prepare our communities for successful inclusion.

"What I love most about 101 Ways . . . is that it is not just a book about finding friends. It is a book about being a friend. It is about learning ways to make a contribution to community. Being a good friend or neighbour, son or daughter, brother or sister, aunt or uncle, partner in life. Giving as well as getting. Our social brains love it when we are needed in real ways by other members of the 'pack.'" from the foreword, by David Pitonyak, "Ours is a Social Brain."

You and Your Budget:

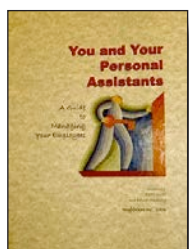

A Guide to Understanding, Planning, and Managing Your Funds

Patti Scott & Dave Hasbury comb bound paperback $15.00

Everyone needs resources that we can use to take care of our lives, and build the lives we want to live. Money is one of those resources. This book helps you think about what resources you have available to build the life you want, and how you can be responsible for using these resources. It helps you think about people resources in your life, the money you get from the State to provide support, and money you get from other sources like your job, SSI, your family, and other places.

You will think about responsibilities that come with "being in charge", the difference between what you "want" and what you "need". You will think about making choices about what you can do to take care of your life. You will explore the role of planning, budgeting, and accounting for the money you receive. The book helps you identify what you are responsible for, how your support circle can help, what your staff can do, and what Neighbours Inc. is responsible for.

You and Your Personal Assistants

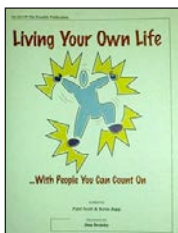

A Guide to Managing Your Staff

Patti Scott & Dave Hasbury comb bound paperback $15.00

Your relationship with the people who work for you is really important. Being able to direct your own life will mean that you need good clear working relationships with the people you hire to support you.

This book helps you consider some of the issues that come with directing your own supports. It helps you to understand what is involved with being an Employer of people who will work for YOU. Some of the topics covered are: planning for staff roles--what do you need people to do?; finding the right people to hire --networking and creating ads; interviewing and choosing who to hire; and keeping good communication with your staff.

Living Your Own Life... With People You Can Count On

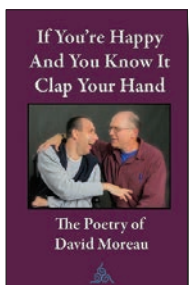

Patti Scott & Kenn Jupp comb bound paperback $15.00

This book helps you to think about people who may be helpful in supporting your effort to direct your own life. It suggests a variety of roles and responsibilities that make it possible to be supported AND stay in charge of your own life. Some of the people identified are members of your Support Circle, Support Brokers, Supports Coordinators (Case Managers), Personal Assistants, Payment Agents, and of course, YOU.

Neighbours is an innovative non-profit organization created specifically to support people with disabilities and their families in choosing and designing a life for themselves within their local towns and neighborhoods.

People with disabilities have advocated for the right to choose, to direct, and be in control of their own lives. With the power that comes with choice also comes responsibility. We all need to learn about how to be responsible for our own lives and choices. Neighbours Inc. has supported people in learning how to be in charge of their own lives, and create the futures they want.

If You're Happy and You Know It Clap Your Hand

Poetry of David Moreau

ISBN 978-1-895418-87-3 2008 94 pages $15.00

David Moreau is poet; a long term front line care worker; a remarkable human being. His poems explore the delight, humor, bureaucratic absurdity, and human frailty that humans face as we struggle to care for one another with dignity and sensitivity. These poems are truly about 'human' service, from the inside out. Provoking thoughts; deep insights; truth.

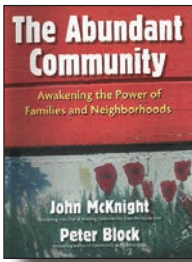

Book reviews: David Moreau is relief at last from the suffocating insincerity of the caring industry. Working gently, he teases the delightful truth from behind charity's facade. – Lucy Gwin

David Moreau tells the world what he knows about the true costs of caring for each other. These acute observations offer insight into the world created by those who spend their work lives with people with developmental disabilities in day programs and group homes. With honesty and humor that express a struggle for compassion and a longing for even more meaning in the lives that concern him, his poems capture both the pressures that make the work mindlessly routine and moments of transcendence, only visible close-up to a discerning eye. – John O'Brien

The Abundant Community

John McKnight & Peter Block

ISBN 978-1-60509-584-4

$28.00

There is a growing movement of people with a different vision for their local communities. They know that real satisfaction and the good life are not provided by organizations, institutions, or systems. No number of great CEO's, central offices, or long range plans produce what a community can produce. People are discovering a new possibility for their lives. They have a calling. They are called. And together they call upon themselves.

This possibility is idealistic, and yet it is an ideal within our grasp. It is a possibility that is both idealistic and realistic. Our culture leads us to believe that a satisfying life can be purchased. It tells us that in the place where we live, we don't have the resources to create a good life. This book reminds us that a neighborhood that can raise a child, provide security, sustain our health, secure our income, and care for our vulnerable people. This is the power of our communities.

This book gives voice to our ideal of a beloved community. It reminds us of our power to create a hope-filled life. It assures us that when we join together with our neighbors we are the architects of the future we want to live.

Community Lost and Found

A conversation between two dreamers

Arthur R. Lockhart & Michael Clarke ISBN 1-895418-52-6 $25.00

Ideal as a text for Capacity Building and Community Development courses. Workbook format complete with practical exercises.

Arthur and Michael have decades of experience on the streets and with people who have been excluded. They have created successful programs for people who most say cannot succeed. This book is about their experiences - and how they did it - so you can do it. It is a guide with practical experience and lessons. If you are 'organizing complex programs for people labelled difficult, or if you are wondering 'what should I do?' - this is the book for you.

"As our organization engages students in positive social change, this book provides the background and the strategy we need to realize our vision."

Everyone Has a Gift

Building Communities of Capacity John McKnight

ISBN: 978-1-895418-77-4 $75.00

Produced by Inclusion Press with Parashoot Productions

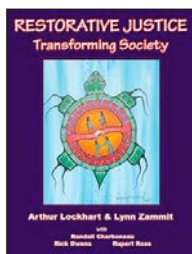

The opening Keynote at the Toronto Summer Institute in July, 1996 featured John McKnight. John is a brilliant speaker - but on that night - on the 23rd floor of the Primrose Hotel - he opened the sky to the heavens. McKnight explains as only McKnight can how to build communities of capacity. (55 min.)

Everyone who sees this video loves it. It is truly John McKnight at his finest - a gem. John is a storyteller, a political philosopher, a prophet and an activist. This video is a moving talk about building communities where everyone can give their gifts as citizens. Community building for John McKnight is not a sentimental journey, but a job to be done by citizens, neighbors, families and friends. John McKnight is the Professor Emeritus at the Center for Urban Affairs and Policy Research at Northwestern University. Great companions to the video are John's books: The Careless Society and The Abundant Community.

Sharing Community

Strategies, Tips and Lessons Learned from Experiences of community building at Options

Gary Messinger and Lisa Mills

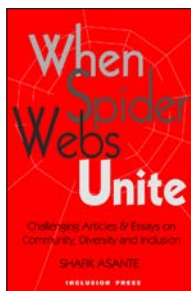

2005 Atwood Publishing ISBN: 978-1-891859-58-8

$20.00

What is community Building? How can we promote, facilitate and support it? Options in Community Living has been building community for decades. In Sharing Community, the authors share their experiences, the lessons they've learned, and some of their most meaningful efforts. This book establishes that the real, most basic reason for community-building is to find and develop opportunities for relationships, belonging, inclusion, and more meaning in the lives of all involved.

"Community building teaches us that when people open up their lives to the unexpected, amazing things can happen."

When Spider Webs Unite

Challenging articles and essays on community, diversity and inclusion

Shafik Asante

ISBN 1-895418-32-1

$20.00

Shafik Asante's book will challenge you to broaden the definition of inclusion and to look at the issues of oppression and liberation in a fresh new way. Shafik speaks from the point of view of a community organizer, a human rights leader, and as a parent of two sons, one of whom has been labeled by the system.

Shafik lived and "walked the talk" of building inclusive community daily. He worked in the heart of Philadelphia where he was a founder of the New African Voices Alliance and The Community Awareness Network.

Never one to be "burned out" or "stressed out", Shafik Asante, who passed away on September 5, 1997 after a 20 year struggle with bone cancer, leaves us a legacy of love and a lasting message of hope based on hard work and the intense organizing it takes to build better and more inclusive communities for the future.

$45.00

Produced by Inclusion Press with Parashoot Productions

This 37 minute video (also available as a 'pack' with the book) will keep the work and spirit of Shafik Asante alive for years to come. We see Shafik in action - talking, laughing, challenging, motivating, inspiring. This video is a treasure for those of us who were fortunate enough to know Shafik personally and as well for those who never met him in person. This video is inspirational and thoughtful viewing for families, friends and colleagues. Shafik challenges us to make inclusive community happen or else betray it and each other.

The ABC's of Ability

An ABC Book about the Lives of Adults with Disabilities

Created by Susan Powell. Photographs by Larry Wells.

Illustrated by Aaron Johannes. Foreword by Annabel Lyon. $25.00

Consultant Susan Powell and photographer Larry Wells, both master educators, gathered together a team of adults with developmental disabilities to create a labour of love - an ABC primer that reflects their experiences of work, play and contribution, with their families, friends and co-workers. Photographed in their own homes and neighbourhoods, this singular little book reflects the contemporary experience, joys and challenges of people with disabilities living in the community.

In plain language for both children and new literacy learners the book is a clear and celebratory message to the communities they belong to about their lives.

Getting to Community Supporting People with Developmental Disabilities in their Pursuit of the Good Life

Susan Stanfield

$25.00

"Susan offers an elegant and precise voice to a new era of supporting interdependence and authentic roles for people with disabilities as they make their own choices in in their homes, workplaces, neighbourhoods and associational lives.

This is an informative and practical book that would be an excellent addition to the libraries of teachers in inclusive classrooms, parents, and those working in the field. We expect a great deal from those who support our citizens with disabilities in their daily lives, and this book is a welcome and respectful addition to the field."

Waddie Welcome and the Beloved Community

Tom Kohler & Susan Earl

ISBN 1-895418-54-2

$25.00 Pack with DVD $95.00

This is the story of a remarkable man and the people who surrounded him to make their whole community stronger. It is a life lesson in community building from people who became masterful by doing it. It is a treasure story with amazing photos.

The Waddie Welcome story is now being read aloud in kitchens & living rooms, churches, classrooms, and auditoriums - as citizens spend an evening together - reading aloud - and then reflecting on the wisdom of Mr. Waddie Welcome and his friends. It is a powerful story. Join us and like minded folks literally around the world - in learning from Mr. Welcome's wisdom.

"The beloved community is not a utopia, but a place where the barriers between people gradually come down and where the citizens make a constant effort to address even the most difficult problems of ordinary people. It is above all else an idealistic community."
- Jim Lawson

Waddie Welcome

A Man Who Could Not Be Denied

A companion film to the book:

Pack with Book - $95.00

Waddie Welcome and the Beloved Community

$80.00

This is the extraordinary story of Waddie Welcome, a man born with cerebral palsy on the 4th of July, 1914. For more than 70 years he lived in Savannah, Georgia, surrounded by the love and care of his family and friends. No respite care. No institutions. No day-care programs. After his primary caretaker died, he was placed in a nursing home against his wishes. He spent over ten years advocating to get out. This is a story of how a community came together to enable Waddie to move back to the community. Award-winning filmmaker Narcel G. Reedus captures the heartbreak, pain and triumph of a man who refused to be denied.

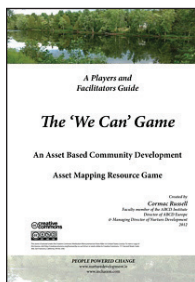

After living in a nursing home for over ten years, community members worked together to help Waddie Welcome to return home. This is the story of how personal relationships can spark and sustain justice in our society. It challenges us to redesign the responsiveness of service systems.

The WE CAN Game (a free download) An asset based community development game.

Created by Cormac Russell, Faculty member of the ABCD Institute, Director of ABCD Europe, and Managing Director of Nurture Development

Cormac Russell is a remarkable community builder from Ireland, a member of the ABCD Institute with John McKnight, and a game inventor. This People Powered Change Game reveals hidden capacities in each of us. This game reminds us that there are certain things only people and communities can do, and if we don't do them, then no one else will. And there is power in learning in 'play'.

If you are looking for ways to discover and unleash the talents in every community or group -- or team -- this game and the possibilities and connections it opens up are for you! Easy to use. Serious fun with powerful learnings.

Great Questions: Writings of Judith Snow - ebook - free download

Judith Snow ISBN 978-1-987935-09-7 p 126 2015 free

*"I have lived on the margins & fought hard to become a participating citizen.
I am a thinker & a dreamer.*

I have a reputation as a visionary.

Let's look at what fosters community capable of including people in all the diversity of their gifts & dreams."

Our friend, Judith Snow, died on 31 May 2015 in the midst of life at her home in Toronto. In her 65 years of life – her passion inspired widening circles of people to build community by mobilizing hidden gifts. Her creative spirit animated her friends to join her in social inventions that have benefited many, including those who may never have heard her name. Judith's life and thinking shaped real Circles of Support, Person-Centered Planning, Community Building and Self-Directed Supports long before they became common, and sometimes hollow, terms.

Judith reflected deeply on her experience of how community grows strong, about power in society and about liberating the contributions of people who are typically pushed to the margins of society because they require accommodation and assistance in order to participate. We have collected her shorter writings on these topics here. May her thinking continue to inspire community builders!

Who's Drawing the Lines?

Judith Snow ISBN 978-1-895418-86-6

$20.00

This is the first of three volumes by Judith Snow - an autobiographical exploration of powerful learning that began very early. Read, enjoy, expand your horizons.

If Inclusion means being part of the world, and being viewed as a citizen of the world like anyone else, then Judith Snow has succeeded in pulling our society at least part of the way toward that ideal. For her, a fully inclusive society is one of "crossing over," where all differences are valued, and where the social goal is partnership – partnership that leads to shared achievements that have never existed before.

Judith Snow is one of Canada's national treasures. She has taught people all across North America how to create communities with a welcome at the edge. This book is the story of how her personal life led so many to a great new vision. Anyone who aspires to be a pathfinder will find the book an unerring compass.

The Building of Judith Snow's Unique Circle of Friends Jack Pearpoint

The story of Judith Snow & her Joshua committee. Love, determination and hard work conquer challenges. An inspiration for anyone struggling to make a difference. This 136 page book is used around the world as a textbook in many human service programs. It is a great human interest story. The book details the personal story of helping Judith Snow move out of an institution and into the community. In the process, a circle of support was born that not only helped Judith, but changed the lives of all involved. The message is powerful and simple: None of us can deal with a crisis alone. The book explains the formation of the "Joshua Committee" as Judith Snow named her Circle of Support. John O'Brien's 10 page afterward is a brilliant essay about the message of hope embedded in the book.

What's Really Worth Doing And How to Do It

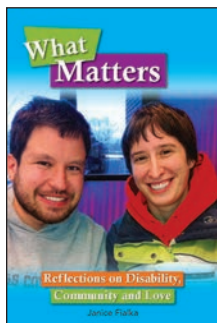

A book for people who love someone labeled 'disabled' Judith Snow

"This is a book of wisdom - an invitation to the dance of life." - John McKnight

This book stood on its own, but is better in combination with "From Behind the Piano". Judith says her book is about strategies to make it possible for people who are vulnerable to be more present and included in their communities. Her premise is that we must replace the thinking of disability with the thinking of "giftedness." If you want to know how to start to build support circles (i.e. circles of friends), this is the book for you.

WHAT MATTERS: Reflections on Disability, Community and Love

Janice Fialka

ISBN 978-1-987935-10-3 p 236 2016 $25.00

Janice Fialka is a brilliant writer. Micah Fialka-Feldman is her son. He is a teaching assistant at Syracuse University and one of the most charming people you will ever encounter. This remarkable story, draws on the reflections from family and friends - and walks us through the journey to this remarkable current reality. But the story begins as a stunning 'disability' story except that this family said no. They decided that Micah would be fully included and have a full life. And does he ever.

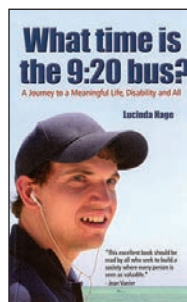

Remarkably, Janice, Rich, Micah and Emma do not hold back. They have the courage to tell the story warts and all... which is why it is a 'must read' for every family, every teacher - every person who cares about another person.

And stay tuned - because the movie is coming: Dan Habib is shooting it now, so read on and then order the movie.

What Time Is the 9:20 Bus? A Journey to a Meaningful Life, Disability and All

by Lucinda Hage

ISBN 978-0-9936526-0-8 $20.00

A woman unable to have her own child and anxious to adopt is overjoyed when a newborn baby is granted to her and her husband. Devastation follows, however, when the baby, Paul, is diagnosed with a serious genetic disorder that means he will be intellectually challenged and require medical intervention for the rest of his life. Her already tenuous marriage disintegrates, and she becomes a single mother caring for a difficult, fragile child. With exceptional resilience, tenacity, faith and very hard work, she makes a successful life not just for herself but for her son. Summer camp changes his life; she finds a new partner and love. The reader cheers for Paul as he struggles to take his rightful place in society, and for his mother as she works ceaselessly to make that possible.

"This excellent book should be read by all who seek to build a society where every person is seen as valuable."
--Jean Vanier

Starting Conversations That Matter...26

We’re often asked which resources support more learning about circles of support; personal support networks, deepening facilitation practice or planning. Which book, article, story or video will help individuals or groups to start a conversation that matters?

Gathered here are groupings of resources we’ve found useful to individuals, families, organizations, learning communities and support staff, for development and education events. These materials deepen understanding of practices that create the conditions for belonging and valued contribution for people who have been marginalized.

Friends & Inclusion

Five Approaches to Building Relationships

Peggy Hutchison and John Lord with Karen Lord

ISBN: 978-1-895418-95-8 2010 $20.00

It's about relationships! It's that simple and that complex. But that is true for all of us; it takes work to build and sustain friendships. If you happen to experience a disability, building relationships must be even more intentional. It is just a matter of degree. We all need to belong.

Peggy, John & Karen describe their personal search and exploration of five approaches to building the good life that Karen enjoys. Their frank assessment is instructive and will assist individuals, families and organizations to be more responsive in the most important assignment of a lifetime - building a network of relationships, so we lead full lives as engaged, participating and contributing citizens, and don't end up being isolated by-standers. Let Karen be your mentor. She has it figured out for herself - with a little help from her friends.

Flourish

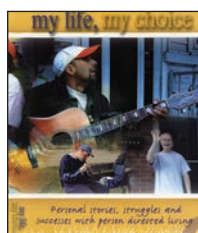

People with Disabilities Living Life with Passion

Karin Melberg Schwier

$25.00

Karin began this book "as a way to think about what makes our son Jim happy." But she couldn't stop there. She widened her net around the world to see what makes others flourish, too.

It is a riveting read that reveals the secret to supporting people with disabilities to create a life worth living. The secret? It has nothing to do with disability! Karin gracefully reveals the ingredients: passion, belief, laughter, creativity and tenacity. Flourish is a thoughtful and insightful journey of hope.

Inclusion Press

Free to Fly

A Story of Manic Depression

Caroline Fei-Yeng Kwok M.Ed. writer, teacher, psychiatric survivor

ISBN: 978-1-895418-72-9 $25.00

Caroline Kwok's book brings home the human story behind a disease label in a way that few other books do. Caroline is a Chinese immigrant, a woman and a psychiatric survivor.

This is a book that will get people asking each other questions again, particularly if they work and struggle in areas of diversity. It should make psychiatrists, nurses and others aware of the very many things that can be going on in someone's life and the other things that can be just as healing as professional input. It is also a book for those who suffer and will enable them to help the people helping them bring wisdom to the encounter.

THROUGH THE SAME DOOR

Inclusion Includes College A Film by Paul Rossen

$65.00

Winner 2006 TASH Image Award for the Positive Portrayal of People with Disabilities (25 minute DVD captioned for the hard of hearing and the deaf.)

Meet Micah Fialka-Feldman, a man who knows what he wants. In many ways Micah enjoys a typical life: making friends, participating in college activities, and volunteering in the community and in politics. Less typically, he travels the country speaking. But for all of his life, there have been people telling him that he could not have a regular life. Micah has an intellectual disability.

This inspiring film documents the new movement of fully inclusive education by exploring Micah's desire for a life without boundaries. As a high school student, Micah wanted the college experience and he got it. See how it's done, learn how it works, and witness how Micah's journey challenges us all to reexamine what we believe possible.

"This video shows us living, breathing inclusion in action. A must-see for all students, teachers, and parents." Mara Sapon-Shevin, Ed.D, Syracuse University

Action for Inclusion:

How to Improve Schools by Welcoming Children with Special Needs Into Regular Classrooms

John O'Brien, Marsha Forest with Judith Snow, Jack Pearpoint & David Hasbury

54 pages, Softbound ISBN 0-921031-07-6 $20.00

This is the original best seller of Inclusion Press. It is short and jargon free. It describes the Circle of Friends exercise, and the MAPS process in detail - as they were first conceived. We strongly recommend it as a companion to the DVDs: INCLUSION CLASSICS, which includes the video With A Little Help From My Friends, and the THE MAPS DVD. This book is being used by school systems around the globe.

Action for Inclusion is short and filled with actual tips on how to develop an action plan (MAP) for including any child at risk of exclusion. These processes are not limited to any one label, but apply to all children at risk - at any age. Although the book focuses on elementary and middle school children, the process is transferable to high school students and adults. This is a down-to-earth blueprint of what 21st century education should be doing for all kids in regular classrooms. Modest but powerful strategies for making it happen in a jargon-free, step-by-step book.

What Regular Subject Teachers Can Do

Gary Bunch, Rima Al-Salah, Jack Pearpoint

ISBN 978-1-895418-96-5 2011 $30.00

Inclusive Schools are the wave of the future - on a global scale. It will happen. However, families, individuals, teachers and systems are frightened of change - and have been told that 'separate' is better for decades. There is much learning - and much unlearning to do.

This short book is based on 'capacity thinking': the capacity of teachers, families, students - and most dramatically students experiencing disabilities. This is very doable. We just need to decide. This simple guide points out some footholds on the journey.

Produced by Parashoot Productions, Marsha Forest Centre & Inclusion Press $45.00

Seeing is believing. If you are considering starting a PlayFair Team, you need this CD. Hear the students talk about how it works, what it means, why it is important. See glimpses of what you could do in your way. The CD can also be used to 'introduce' the idea to a school, classes, teachers, parents. Another outstanding production from Parashoot Productions, a partner with the Marsha Forest Centre.

The Remarkable Story of the First School System to Move to Inclusion

Jim Hansen with Gary Bunch, Gervais Leyden and Jack Pearpoint

Produced by the Marsha Forest Centre, Inclusion Press and Parashoot Productions

ISBN 1-895418-58-5 includes DVD

$30.00

The Hamilton-Wentworth Catholic District School Board has just celebrated 30 Years of Fully Inclusive Education for All. Their mission statement: "EACH BELONGS".

This remarkable book by Jim Hansen collects the history - including an extensive collection of documents and letters from teachers and families - that tell the stories of the struggles from the inside over 30 years.

For anyone who ever has the thought, "It's a great idea, but let's be realistic," this is an important book. Hamilton is a steel town. It is a collage of immigrant communities. It isn't wealthy. They had no extra funds. They believed it was possible - and important and they just did it. Their secret is extra love and caring for all.

About the DVD: Each Belongs is a great book. But, you need to see and hear Jim Hansen and his team to fully appreciate the remarkable work they did to welcome all students. So we made a DVD. It is 'interviews' with Jim Hansen and his colleague Phil DiFrancesco on how they created an inclusive school system. They are frank, funny and profound. We think all schools and families would benefit by seeing Jim and Phil talk about the struggles and the incredible triumph of just doing the right thing - literally against all odds. Two additional interviews put this work in context. Gary Bunch, a Professor of Education from York University in Toronto, reviews the history of special education and puts Hamilton in that context. Gerv Leyden, a Professor at the University of Nottingham, who has observed the Hamilton experience over the decades. He summarizes the British experience and puts the Hamilton experience in that context.

Planning for Real Life After School

Gary Bunch, Kevin Finnegan, Jack Pearpoint

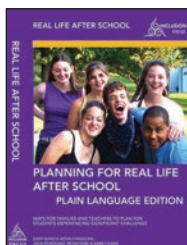

Published by Inclusion Press ISBN 978-1-895418-88-0

123 pp. © 2009

$35.00

This book is about transition from school to work. It has research that confirms what we all know: that for individuals with disabilities, the close collaboration between families, teachers and students facing 'transition to work' is rare. When done well, it works, but it seldom happens. What is different is that this is a proposal for collaboration without blaming - a good approach for all parties. There are two volumes, a Plain Language Edition and a regular edition. The Plain Language edition was co-edited by authors from People First of Ontario. Both are useful, but for those with second language issues and/or learning difficulties, the Plain Language may be more useful.

U-CAN Dictionary

Voice Recognition (VR) The Self Teaching Dictionary

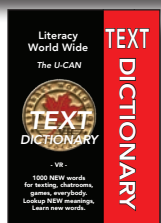

Justin Page & Annmarie Page

ISBN: 978-1-927771-01-3 $20.00 (Call for bulk pricing.)

U-CAN Dictionary is a unique and remarkable response to the simmering literacy crisis that undermines the inherent gifts and capacities of millions of citizens. It is a 'handbook' for non-readers and new readers that begins at the beginning with one-letter words, then two-letter words, and then grows simply and elegantly into a carefully selected introductory English vocabulary. It is a significant contribution to literacy learning and learners everywhere. By using Voice Recognition (VR) you can speak, read and write your words - a breakthrough approach that opens with world of words to all.

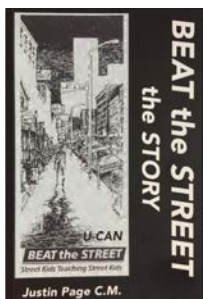

We call it the "People's Book" because it was created by Justin Page who learned to read at 31, and a team of volunteer creators. We call it "The Self Teaching Dictionary" because you can use it on your own; with your children; with a friend. (325 pages)

Beat the Street: the Story

Justin Page C.M.

ISBN: 978-1-98735-16-5 $45.00 2017 (Call for bulk pricing.)

Justin Page is a wizard - and inventor - with a passionate commitment to literacy - and other people (like himself) who have struggled with illiteracy. This passion led to the invention of the U-CAN Dictionary - a unique and remarkable dictionary created by and for new readers. The passion exploded into a wonderfully creative understanding of the power of colour and creativity in the healing journey to literacy. This book draws on Justin's remarkable story of the creation of Beat the Street (street kids teaching street kids) through to the use of colour, sound, poetry, and more on this amazing journey.

Parents & Professionals Partnering for Children with Disabilities A Dance that Matters

by Janice M. Fialka, Arlene K. Feldman and Karen C. Mikus
Foreword by Ann P. Turnbull

ISBN 978-1-4129-6639-9

$30.00

The authors use a dance metaphor to capture the complexities and possibilities of building strong partnerships between professionals and parents of children with disabilities. This revised edition of Do You Hear What I Hear? Parents and Professionals Working Together for Children With Special Needs is rich with real-world stories and examples, refreshing insights, and practical strategies.

Brilliantly written from the differing vantage points of both parents and professionals.
Kathy Brill, Parent to Parent USA

I highly recommend this book for novice and veteran parents and professionals.

The Basics

Supporting Learners with Intellectual Challenge in Regular Classrooms
A Resource for Teachers

Gary Bunch

1-895418-68-2

A teacher's resource book on dealing with intellectual challenges in a regular classroom.

This book is a resource for teachers who have the opportunity and the responsibility to work with students who have been labeled with intellectual challenges. The fundamental premise is that good teaching is good teaching - for all students. Secondly, this book recognizes and appreciates that teachers are professionals with the skills and the spirit to welcome and teach all learners. However, because of lags in teacher training and support, many teachers may fear the challenge of welcoming students who at first glance appear to require special training they have not had. This resource offers practical ideas and approaches for supporting all learners.

Inclusive Education Emergent Solutions

Gary Bunch & Dr. Angela Valeo ISBN 978-1-895418-86-6 © 2008 $35.00

A worldwide revolution is occurring in education of learners experiencing disabilities. The Special Education model is being replaced by Inclusive Education, educating all learners together in the regular classrooms of community schools. Inclusive Education is not simply a new way to educate students who differ in ability, hearing, vision, behaviour, or body. It is based in sweeping change of how we regard people experiencing disability and their right to full participation in society.

This book presents snapshots of the struggle of educational change as seven nations respond to this new human rights understanding of how education and disability should intersect. In various ways and at different levels, each is experiencing the tension and excitement, which always accompany change.

TSI is hard to explain. It is an international gathering - a 'happening'. It is a learning community that takes the risk to provide a framework for a limited number of key modules/ learning strands - and facilitates the balance of the time to be co-created by the participants - drawing on their extraordinary experience, balanced with their needs. Thus it is never the same - yet always meets the learning needs of people who come - because they help to design it.

The institute begins on Saturday evening and ends Thursday afternoon. Sunday is a dive into connection and content for the week. Monday – Wednesday, there will be learning modules each morning. In the afternoons, the Learning Marketplace – the Open Space Agenda begins. We co-create the Learning Marketplace agenda Sunday afternoon thus fitting your skills and interests into a master format for the week. The Marketplace invites your contributions to flourish and you to invent your own learning agenda! Typically, there are a range of evening options, including a 'stone soup' sharing dinner and a festive 'glitter' party and gathering Wednesday evening.

There will be no course outlines, but rather daily agendas. This is learning on the edge. Join us and together we will build a better tomorrow. Come with an open mind and an open heart. Think about yourself as a contribution to the whole; that will be a great gift to us all.

Perhaps the best way to give a flavor is to share reflective glimpses from participants. They 'explain' the impact:

"Most training programs treat participants as clients. And as we all know, people learn the least when they have no active role and are merely consumers. The Summer Institute is the great and grand exception to typical training programs. The Institute is intentionally designed to create a learning, sharing forum where everyone contributes and everyone learns. It is for this reason that I find its participants the liveliest learners and the most influential activists in the course of inclusion."

John L. McKnight

"Coming to the Summer Institute is like putting your mouth in front of a fire hydrant - ! you just try and catch all you can!"

"I left feeling rejuvenated, validated, exhausted and full of possibilities. We reestablished the energy and zest of earlier decades..."

"TSI opened my eyes to what was possible, now all I have to do is do something to build the dream of inclusion for every one."

"Every now and then we come across those people who serve as a pole stars for us: the voices that encourage us to keep going, the conviction to believe a little more, the gentle nudge to stretch ourselves."

"Several things started in Toronto:

1. deciding to take better care of myself
2. practicing saying yes to invitations
3. becoming a citizen connector"

"So much diversity and so many things to go to. It's great learning about all the different things happening in different countries – and my own!"

"I really like the format! First time I've been to a course where you start blank and you put in stuff as it goes along."

"So many different people, some doing jobs like mine, only somewhere else."

"I loved being somewhere where you don't have to defend or apologize for your own views."

"Camaraderie, openness and sharing. This openness was so different!

"Sessions on different layers of friendship and the need to build honored relationships between agency staff and communities."

"The focus on relationships needed to support community change. Changing from dormant routine relationships between communities and agencies to being revitalized and creative."

"By having been here with my family it has given them the appreciation of what else is out here, opportunities of new experiences, new friendships and fellowships..."

"TSI is the best international community gathering in the world. I am always inspired."

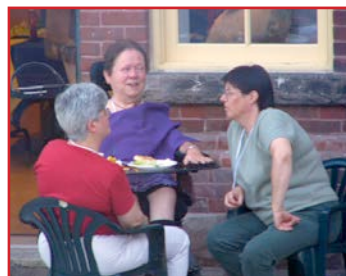

"I come here regularly because for 6 days in a year I can be who I really am."

A Snapshot of Institute History:

(right) Michelle Friesen, Judith Snow and Marlyn Shervill

TSI began in 1984 because families were demanding access to meaningful information about inclusion, education, human rights. Marsha Forest and friends created 'an institute' under the umbrella of the Centre for Integrated Education & Community (CIEC) - now the "Marsha Forest Centre" to respond to that demand. No Canadian university could be convinced that this was a priority, so the first institute was held on the York University campus at the National Institute on Mental Retardation (NIMR) with a seal of 'approval' from Doug Biklin from Syracuse University in NY state. Evely Lusthaus, a parent who was concerned about her daughter attending, and as a result, in her capacity as a professor at McGill University (Montreal) engineered a 'summer' approval for the Institute to be hosted at McGill. That lasted a decade. The Institute thrived, but in time, moved back to Toronto - in various locations. Many will remember the Starlight Room in the 'Primrose Hotel' for many years, and more recently, Pitman Hall at the Ryerson University - both in downtown Toronto.

The Institute has traveled internationally - directly to England in the early 90's, Australia and New Zealand in.... , and dozens of other locations with mini institutes and spin off institutes. Tens of thousands have participated over the decades. The current core organizing team consists of Lynda Kahn, Cathy Hollands, Jack Pearpoint & John O'Brien on design.

TSI is self funding. It does not have government or university funding. Our core of hosts (faculty) volunteer their time and talent. The Marsha Forest Centre provides limited underwriting to ensure that a limited number of youth and other participants without financial resources are able to be full participants.

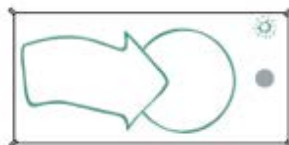

PATH & MAPS

A Course in Facilitation & Person Centered Ways to Build Community with PATH and MAPS

Workshop Description: Facilitators: Jack Pearpoint & Lynda Kahn

This three day course introduces people to basic values of inclusion, community building and person centred ways of working. It includes:

- an introduction to graphic facilitation and recording
- skills in process facilitation
- approaches to deepen listening practices
- Circles of Support and • Solution Circles

as well as two of the family of approaches to Person Centred Planning - MAPS and PATH. This is 'hands on' learning. With a foundation of values, new and more experienced facilitators will spend a substantial portion of the three days practicing these patterns of conversation with each other, before putting the future of others in their hands.

This course is for:

- People who will be using person centred planning approaches with people, organisations and communities.
- People concerned about planning to give people a life - to support people to pursue what matters to them, engaging them as contributing citizens in the community, by stepping out of the box to make that happen.
- People who are willing to invest time and effort in building relationships for people who are relegated to isolation, or organisations that are imploding with miscommunication and lack of clear vision!
- People who want an introduction to Graphic Facilitation: Current person centred planning approaches (such as MAPS, PATH, etc.) require familiarity with graphic recording, mapping and facilitation.
- People concerned about improving communications and clarity in meetings of any kind.

Participants will not be 'MAPS or PATH' masters, but rather, emerge with a basic familiarity so they can 'practice, practice, practice' and develop their own skill set and competence. Course books will offer additional exercises to strengthen facilitation practice.

Your workshop days will include:

Drawing Stories
Listening: with your ears & your fingers
Solution Circles
Person Centred Planning foundations
An Introduction to PATH
An Introduction to MAPS

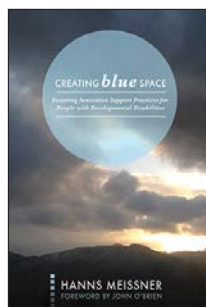

Opportunities to observe and participate as a graphic recorder, a process facilitator, a listener, a creative resource source, and more...

Handouts include:

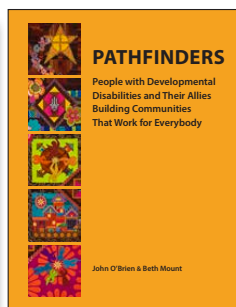

- * The PATH & MAPS Handbook: Person Centred Ways to Build Community
- * Person-Centered Planning with MAPS and PATH, A Workbook for Facilitators
- * Hints for Graphic Facilitators

The course provides an opportunity for in-depth presentation and conversation on the framework and thinking underneath the new material in Person Centered Ways to Build Community with PATH and MAPS. There are updated ways for holding and recording the conversations that are part of each of these processes. We will be exploring facilitation practices and values that will strengthen facilitators in their work.
